

Celebrity News: Rob Kardashian Worries Blac Chyna Will 'Stop Being Attracted' to Him

By

Mallory McDonald

Feeling confident about yourself can be a daily struggle. In recent celebrity news, Rob Kardashian is admitting that, just like many people, he has insecurities about his image that are affecting his celebrity relationship. According to UsMagazine.com, Chyna asked Kardashian in this Sunday's episode of Keeping Up With The Kardashians, "What's the real reason you didn't come? Not the reason you're going to tell me, but the real reason you didn't come today. Is it because of the argument?" Rob did not show up for an event and Chyna questions whether he didn't show due to a fight they had on the previous episode. Rob replies to Chyna, "It's a combination of everything. I just didn't want you to see me and give you more reason to stop being attracted to me or whatever, so I just didn't want to go." It seems like Rob is really struggling to feel confident in himself and does not want to burden his partner.

This celebrity news has us relating for sure. What are some ways to ease your insecurities about appearance with regard to your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Insecurities have a nasty way of creeping up in a relationship and causing tension and problems. We have some dating advice to help ease your insecurities around your partner:

1. Compliments: A lot of people have a misconception about when to compliment their partner. If you are complimenting your partner all the time about every little thing, the compliments will not feel real or genuine at a certain point. Really focus on telling them how great they look at the right times so it comes off as authentic.

2. Communicate: Your partner cannot help with your insecurities or struggles if you don't share with them how you are feeling. Admitting our insecurities, especially about our appearance, can be one of the hardest things, but being willing to open up to your partner will not only be a big step in the relationship, but they may help relieve those insecurities.

3. Rationalize: It is easy to be hard on ourselves, but try not to drag your significant other into that. Even though you may be feeling bad about your looks, don't assume your partner feels the same way. They are with you for a reason, and unless they are giving you any reason to assume they are unhappy with your looks, realize that they think you are beautiful just the way you are.

Relationship Advice: So When Exactly IS It Time For Sex?

By

Joshua Pompey

I'm ready. At least I think I'm ready. No, I'm definitely ready. Ugh, I'm sorry, but I'm just not ready! Does deciding when to have sex sometimes feel like a ping pong match in your head that ends with nobody scoring? Or perhaps, people scoring a bit too much? Well, maybe I can be of help as a relationship expert. If you aren't sure if you should have sex or wait, let's take a long look at some solid indicators with the following relationship advice.

Relationship Advice On When It's The Right Time To Have Sex

1. You feel comfortable without the assistance of liquor. First and foremost, it's all about how comfortable you feel when those 5 drinks aren't helping you to make your decision. Sure, most of us want to rip off our clothes when liquor is involved. Especially if we are extremely attracted to that person. But how do you feel when you're sober? If you aren't completely comfortable in intimate situations when your clothes are on, you probably won't feel comfortable with your clothes off either.

2. Silence feels normal. This might sound like a strange dating tip for an article about sex, but being able to be feel comfortable in silence around someone you're dating is a very strong indication of just how close the two of you are. Just don't stay that quiet when things get intimate!

Related Link: Dating Advice: Should A Woman Split The Bill On A Date Night?

3. You have talked about your relationship goals. Keep in mind that everyone is different. Some people are content with multiple partners. Some people prefer monogamy. To each their own. But regardless of your preferences, you should know what your partner is all about with his or her intentions before taking it to that next level. Or at least have a very strong idea.

4. The chemistry is undeniable. Sometimes this happens on the first date. Sometimes it's after several dates. Sometimes several months. But you will know when the chemistry is too strong to stop. When this happens, just let go and enjoy it. There is nothing to feel guilty about if you are two willing partners, because let's face it, those feelings don't come around often.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: How Do You Know When It's Right To Move In With Someone?

5. When it doesn't interfere with your relationship goals. You may feel perfectly normal having sex on the first night. But will the other person question who you are as a person if you do? Could it put a long term relationship in jeopardy? It's important to consider these questions before taking things to the next level. If you want to play it safe, having sex within the first couple of dates is risky if you're seeking out a long term relationship, unless you're absolutely certain your new partner shares your views. Otherwise, hold off until you are sure you won't be labeled or judged for your actions.

Keep an eye out for these indicators and consider my relationship advice next time you're faced with the decision on whether or not to have sex. Don't succumb to pressure, and remember that you're in charge of your body. Good luck!

Dating Advice: How To Get Over A Breakup

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert, Ellen Smoak to offer dating advice on getting over a breakup. Follow these dating tips if you want to start having success on your dates!

Dating Advice On Getting Over Breakups

1. Rewire your brain. For 30 days, you need to create a habit of not thinking about your ex. You'll never get over them if you constantly have them on your mind. After doing this for a month, you will have a far easier time to move on.

2. Don't stalk. It can be tempting to want to know what your ex is up to, but don't give in to curiosity! Don't stalk your ex online or in person, it will only hurt you in the end. Also you don't want to give them power over you.

3. Take a time out. Aside from stalking, you need to take a communication detox from your ex. Delete them from your social media and avoid talking to them for 30 days. If you don't do this you might risk getting back together and giving the power to your ex again.

Dating Advice: First Date Tips For Women

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert, Nando Rodriguez to offer dating advice on what women should do on their first dates. Follow these dating tips if you want to start having success on your dates!

Dating Advice To Follow On Your First Date

1. Create intent. Make a promise to yourself that you'll have fun. Do your part on the date to try and make it enjoyable, so if it doesn't work out you'll know it wasn't all your fault.

Relationship Advice: How to Stop Dating Bad Boys

By

Creshawna Parker-Davis

Find yourself going after the same guy time and time again? You know the type: the guy who doesn't make you better, yet does an awesome job at stringing you along, but you have no idea where your relationship stands? Yeah, that can be confusing. It's like craving a highly carbonated and artificial soft drink. It's no good for you, but you want it anyway. Hey, no judgement here; however, while it's satisfying at the moment, it can be detrimental in the long run if you form a bad habit.

What do you do if you find yourself stuck dating these same type of guys over and over? Cut it off, and kick 'em to the curb. Here's some relationship advice to help you stop dating bad boys for good.

Realize you can't change him.

Men, or people in general really, aren't projects. While you may be able to teach him how to wash dishes or to turn the TV off once he's finished playing his video games, don't attempt to do a man-over, as it may not go so well.

Be with someone who loves you for you.

Just as you can't, or shouldn't, attempt to change someone, don't be with someone who wants to completely change you. Growth is no doubt a good thing, but if your significant other is trying to change your style of clothes, your friends and make you into someone you're not or don't aspire to be, leave.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: What NOT to Do In Your Marriage, Thanks to Celebs

Be realistic.

If you're not happy with the way things are currently going in your relationship, especially during the early stages, that's a good sign that you should leave. If things aren't going too well now, don't assume placing an exclusive label on the relationship will make it any different.

Make a list of what you want in a man.

Make a list of the qualities you want in a man. Do you want someone to take you on a date night every week? Write it down. Do you want someone who calls you to say goodnight instead of just sending a text? Yep, you guessed it ... write it down. Once you create this list, keep it handy to remind you of what it is that you'd like to have in a man, and make changes as necessary.

Step outside of your comfort zone.

There's nothing wrong with having a type, but sometimes going outside of your safety zone can be a good thing. If you've never considered dating someone who typically isn't the bad boy you'd go for, try it out. Not only does this get you one step closer to leaving the bad boys alone for good, but it also allows you to learn something new.

Celebrity News: Nick Viall Confirmed as the Next 'Bachelor'

By

Mallory McDonald

The Bachelorette has finished another season with Jojo Fletcher finding her prince in Jordan Rodgers. Since then, everyone was wondering who the next Bachelor would be. Front runners for the position were Luke Pell and Chase McNary, both contestants on Jojo's season. However, in recent celebrity news, we learned that the next to try his hand at love will be Bachelor veteran, Nick Viall. Viall told UsMagazine.com, "I've certainly had the practice. I'm definitely ready for it – I'm very excited." Viall was the runner-up on both Andi Dorfman and Kaitlyn Bristowe's season, and spent three months on Bachelor in Paradise hoping to find love. All of his attempts at love on this platform have left some fans feeling skeptical about his next foray on The Bachelor, but we're hoping for the best!

This celebrity news is super controversial at the moment. What are some ways to overcome gossip related to your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

No matter what you do there are going to be people who question your relationship. It can be difficult to learn how to handle the critiques. Cupid's here to help with this dating advice:

1. Be open: In order to keep others from affecting your relationship, you have to have a strong foundation with your partner. When they are feeling insecure due to gossip, be open and transparent with them to help make them feel secure in what you have.

2. Don't hide: When people are discussing your relationship, do not just let it go on without at least trying to make strides to improve the situation. Figure out why these things are being said, go to the root of the problem. Then, work with your partner to try to figure out a solution.

Relationship Advice: Listen With Your Heart

By De

bbie Ceresa from Divorce Support Center

How many times have you said this to your partner? “You never hear what I say! Aren’t you listening to me?” Or maybe they’ve accused you of not hearing or remembering what was said. The longtime celebrity couple Kurt Russell and Goldie Hawn credit listening as a secret to a successful relationship. “Learn to listen and live in the moment. Don’t over plan your future; focus on being the best partner you can be in the present moment, and the rest will follow.” Listening is key to building and maintaining a healthy relationship, but it’s not easy. The skills of a good listener require dedication and a heart with ears. You must have the ability to give yourself totally to the person who is talking. It’s not easy because we are constantly inundated with outside distractions, such as our thoughts, cell phones, and social media. In his book, Wherever You Go, There You Are, Jon Kabat-Zinn, professor of medicine emeritus at the University of Massachusetts Medical School, defines mindfulness, or active listening, as paying attention in a particular way, on purpose, in the present moment, and non-judgmentally. We listen to understand, to obtain information, and for enjoyment, but researchers and relationship experts at the University of Minnesota found that “the average person only remembers half of what he or she has immediately heard said by another person.” Over time, that result can have a devastating effect on your relationships. A key factor in a successful relationship is to become a pro in active listening. Active listeners make an effort to hear what has been said and understand the message. To accomplish this, you must master four of these dating tips.

Relationship Advice On Active Listening

1. Create a listening ritual and space. Find a comfortable place to sit and listen to each other, particularly when the conversation is important. Your special place should be free of distractions thereby giving yourselves total attention to each other. Unplug, de-clutter, shut the door, do whatever it takes for some priceless listening time. My husband and I have created a morning coffee time on our patio. The morning sounds of birds, the tranquility of mountains in the distance, and the early neighborhood sounds provide us with a peaceful space to share stories daily.

2. Pay attention. Give yourself to the speaker with a nod of your head, a slight gesture, or smile. Maintaining eye contact demonstrates you are in the moment. Most importantly, try to focus on hearing with your heart. “Wisdom is the reward you get for a lifetime of listening when you’d have preferred to talk,” said relationship expert Doug Larson.

3. Put yourself in your partner’s shoes. Don’t be afraid to be empathic. Recognizing your partner’s perspective will give you the opportunity to think beyond yourself. You'll be surprised as you discover their hopes, dreams, fears and expectations. These discoveries will lead to you honing in on your listening skills as you begin to know your partner more intimately.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: Four Reasons To Be Thankful For Your Partner

4. Collect moments and be prepared to retell the story. When your partner shares a story with you, it's important to them. The story is their moment, and it has now become yours. How many times have you and a friend retold the story of running through the airport together or the time you celebrated your anniversary at a special restaurant? "One of the best ways to remember something better is to know that you are going to tell what you learned to someone else," said writer Henrik Edberg. "Then you'll be more alert, naturally start asking more questions to understand and what is said – in my experience – simply seems to stick better." My best relationship advice is to learn from retelling your special moments, remember the eye contact, gestures, and emotions. With so many distractions vying for our time, the ability to listen is a quality often longed for in today's relationships. By creating the ideal atmosphere, paying attention, showing empathy for our partner, and being fully engaged in listening, you can show your loved one how much you care by not saying a word.

Dating Advice: Moving Fast Towards a Relationship...Is That a Bad Thing?

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert, Tinzley Bradford to offer dating advice on whether you're falling in love or moving your relationship too fast. Follow these dating tips if you want to start having success on your dates!

Dating Advice On Pacing Your Relationships

1. Think about it. Make a point to evaluate your relationship and it's speed. Rushing the relationship can have painful consequences, don't let yourself get swayed by chemistry.

Relationship Advice: Turning Your Summer Fling Into Something That Lasts Longer

By

David Wygant

Summer loving, have me a blast. Summer loving, happened so fast. I met a girl crazy for me. I met a boy cute as can be. Summer days drifting away to oh oh the summer nights.

You remember those lines from that iconic song in the movie Grease, Summer Nights? Well for those of you lucky enough to find a special someone during the hot months, you've just had a little summer loving, or you're experiencing it now. The days are winding down, nights are getting cooler, the sun getting weaker, and Labor Day is almost upon us! What are you going to do about your summer romance? Will it last? As a relationship expert, I'm here to tell you that summer isn't hunting season. Fall actually is! Whoever you met in the summer is thinking the same thing you are. They're thinking, "Have I met somebody that I'm actually going to be able to celebrate Christmas with? Will they be able to cuddle and snuggle all warm by the fire with me?" So how do you actually turn this summer fling into something long-lasting? My relationship advice is very simple, just continue with the fun!

Relationship Advice On Turning Your Summer Fling Into Something More

In the beginning of a relationship, it's all about having a good time, getting to know one another, learning each other's love language, figuring out who each other is. So what you want to do is continue this relationship by being the same person. Maybe you won't be taking walks on the beach or around the lake anymore. Maybe you'll be doing things in your hometown. It doesn't matter where you are, or how you met. The bottom line is, summer flings can turn into long-lasting relationships, so you should treat it just as that. Continue doing things that were fun.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: Make Your Love Life Sparkle Post-4th of July

Summer may be ending, but if you want a serious relationship, keep courting him or her. Court this person because you've been courting them the whole time in the summertime. Court them so they knows exactly what you're talking about. The best dating advice I can offer is to be open, loving, and present to continue this relationship. To me, summertime is a great time to meet, but now it's time to get down to the nitty-gritty, and get down to the beauty of what you can actually co-create together. Bring back memories of the summer. Take lots of pictures now as summer winds down to an end. Take time to text your special someone these photos throughout the fall so you both can be brought back to that moment. There's no reason for summer flings to end. It can easily continue into the fall. Follow my relationship advice and dating tips, and I assure you, you'll be able to sing Summer Nights this same time next year.

Celebrity Divorce: Jana Kramer & Husband Mike Caussin Separate; He Enters Rehab

By

Mallory McDonald

Celebrity couple Jana Kramer and husband, Mike Caussin, just could not make it work. According to UsMagazine.com, Entertainment Tonight reported that former NFL player Caussin has entered rehab, though the reasons behind that have not yet been disclosed. Kramer has separated from Caussin as well. Back in 2013, the couple had a celebrity wedding and shortly after, a celebrity baby. At the time, Kramer said, "We feel extremely blessed to have found each other and are so fortunate to have shared our day with close friends and family. We look forward to sharing our lives together." At the time, this relationship seemed like the perfect fairy tale ending, but even the best love stories sometimes come to an end.

There may be another celebrity divorce on the way. How do you know when your marriage is un-fixable?

Cupid's Advice:

Saying goodbye to someone is one of the hardest things in life. Cupid is here to help make that difficult decision with this dating advice:

1. Honesty: When you begin to feel unsure about your relationship, it is important to be honest with your partner about it. You may find that they are feeling similarly to you and that can make for an easier decision.

Dating Advice: When Should I Sleep With A Guy?

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert

Jonathan Aslay to offer their dating advice about when it would be right to sleep with a new partner. Follow these dating tips if you want to start having success on your dates.

Dating Advice On Sleeping With A New Man

1. Do what is right for you. There is no real timeframe that is right for everyone. You need to come to terms with yourself and find out when the right time is for you. If you're looking for a serious relationship, you may not want to sleep with a new man too soon. A man who truly cares about you will try to get to know you before taking you to the bedroom.

Related Link: Dating Advice: How To Be Sexy On Date Night

2. Try the 10-date rule. You'll be able weed out the men who only want to have sex after the third and fourth date. The likelihood of sleeping together increases somewhere between the sixth and tenth date. This is a great option for those who are looking for someone that legitimately like them. The ten dates should occur somewhere between 6-weeks if it's not a long-distance relationship.

Related Link: Dating Advice: What To Do When Your Relationship Gets Real

3. Don't be jaded. Negativity and cynical attitudes sabotage a lot of relationships. Don't assume all men are bad. The experts dating advice is to be open to love and realistic with your expectations. Many women say they need a commitment before having sex, but you need to define what commitment means to you and go forward with your relationships accordingly.

Dating Advice: Should A Woman Split The Bill On A Date Night?

By

Joshua Pompey

The moment has come. The bill arrives. Sweat trickles down the back of your neck once the server drops the checkbook at your table. What do you do? Do you let him pay for the meal? Or do you sit there awkwardly while he reaches for his wallet? Ah, the age old question that relationship experts love to answer. If you're looking for dating advice that will help you navigate this dilemma, take into consideration the different scenarios that can arise on a first date.

Dating Advice On Splitting The Bill With Your Date

The dating advice that I provide you will vary depending on the context of the situation. Suppose a man invited you out to an expensive restaurant or took you somewhere that costs a lot of money, without you being aware of the situation ahead of time. In this case, you really shouldn't be reaching for your wallet. It's not on you to cover an expensive bill that someone else imposed upon you.

But in any other situation, you should at least reach for your wallet at the minimum. This motion is less about the actual act of paying, and more about what it reveals about you as a person. When you reach for your wallet, you aren't just letting him know that you are willing to pay. You are communicating that you are considerate, interested, and trying to do the right thing. A man will notice and process this, even if he quickly waves you off.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: How Do You Know When It's Right To Move In With Someone?

Back when I was single, this was something that I always looked for on a first date, and I know for a fact that most men do as well. When we're on dates and someone sits there as the check comes without even flinching, we start to wonder if she expects to always be taken care of, and even worse, will wonder if she is innately selfish. This may not be you at all, and maybe you've mentally planned on paying for something on a second date, but remember, it's a first date and he still doesn't know you very well. A man's perception of you is based solely on the limited amount of time that they're engaged with you on a first date. In the event that the man waves you off, just smile and say, "Okay, but next time the first round is on me!" And in the event that he doesn't wind up waving you off, that shouldn't be a big deal either, even if you don't like him. As a rule of thumb, don't accept a date if you can't afford to partially contribute. And if him not paying bothers you, then maybe it's a sign he's not your type anyway.

Related Link: Relationship Advice On Financial Infidelity

At the end of the day, what most quality men want (pending they don't have unresolved mommy issues) is a woman who is down to earth and considerate. The more you make this clear with the things you say and the actions you do, the easier it will be to avoid unnecessary relationship problems in the future regarding finances. You don't want to start any partnership with unequal footing. Having a guy shoulder the bill all the time is a sure way to stir some resentment. The best dating tip that I can offer is to at least give it a try.

Dating Advice: 7 Things to Remember While on Vacation

with a New Love

By

Josh Ringler

Vacations can be a great way to solidify your relationship, or a way to start a new one! While there are plenty of ways to get your relationship to the next level, a vacation with a new love interest is one of the best for sure. With that being said, there are some things that you have to consider while on vacation to keep the relationship smooth when you come back home! Follow these pieces of dating advice to avoid some turbulence on the way home!

These pieces of relationship advice will make vacation great and it will help keep that loving, honeymoon feeling when you two get home!

1. New scenery, same you: Just because you are not at work and are not in the comfort zone of your home area, that doesn't mean you should act completely differently. While celebrity couples on celebrity vacations sometimes use vacations as a change of pace, you and your partner are probably using the trip to be together for a few days. That's something special that shouldn't be wasted.

2. Be romantic: Obviously, things between the two of you have been romantic if you planned a trip together. But don't make that be a reason to forget about all the other romantic gestures that got your love to this level. There are countless ways to get romantic on a trip, and your imagination should be able to come up with one thing per day to show how much you love your partner.

3. Be affectionate: This one seems like a no-brainer, but in all the craziness that is traveling, it can sometimes be forgotten. Hold hands, let them rest your head on your shoulder on a nap on the plane, or just give a little random peck on the cheek. Showing affection will really help intensify your love over the course of this trip!

Related Link: Relationship Advice: 4 Ways to Keep Your Long-Term Relationship Hot this Summer

4. Find a way to surprise your partner: Vacations are the perfect time to create memorable surprises. Cute romantic gestures, hidden as surprises, are a great piece of dating advice. Set up a romantic candle lit dinner on the beach, or plan a day trip to a hidden waterfall. Whatever it is, your partner will be happy, so don't forget to surprise her or him if you can!

5. Be spontaneous: While this one goes along with surprises, it is also different. Instead of surprising your partner with a day trip, discuss it. Maybe after breakfast head into the local town, or find a local eatery to try for dinner. Communication is the key to success in a relationship, so talk about doing something crazy, but fun. Consider skydiving!

6. Use this experience: Being together 24 hours a day for a few days may be something new for your relationship. There may also be habits that you did not know about your partner until now. A great piece of relationship advice is to use the time as a learning experience to really assess if your relationship is built to last. Get closer to your partner by talking about things that may not come up at work or home, and use the time together to really see if the two of you have wedding bells in your future!

Related Link: Relationship Advice: 5 Ways to Break Your Routine & Keep Things Fresh

7. The trip will end: Unfortunately, not everything is meant to last, except for your relationship, hopefully! The trip will be over before you know it, and life will return to normal, but that doesn't mean you should forget about the romantic getaway when you return home. There should be no regrets when you get home, so take advantage of your time together to have an amazing time with each other!

Dating Advice Q&A: How Has Technology Changed the Way We Date?

Question from Sandy L.: I'm a recently divorced mom of three who is jumping back into the wonderful world of dating. I can already tell that things are very different than when I was last single! How has technology changed the way we date? Should I definitely try online dating?

Dating can be complicated. Add social media and electronic devices into the mix, and it can get even more tricky to find a compatible partner. This feat is especially challenging for new singles leaving failed marriages. However, do not fret. Leave it up to our relationship experts who can offer their best dating advice on using technology the right way. Online dating is here to stay, after all, so don't be afraid to jump in and catch up with the times!

Technology Dating Advice After Divorce

Suzanne K. Oshima, Matchmaker: Dating after divorce can be scary, exciting and challenging all at the same time. But wait, don't let that scare you... because while things have completely changed since the last time you dated, it's also a really great time to be single. Meeting men has never been easier, especially with the advent of online dating. And while it can seem a little scary to put yourself out there so publicly, online dating is actually one of the best ways to meet someone. Just put together a profile with great photos (men are very visual, so you need to attract him) and an essay that shows your fun personality and what you're passionate about...soon your calendar will be booked up with dates! And if you need more dating advice on how to get back into dating after divorce, you can grab a free copy of my eBook: "Dating After Divorce: A New Beginning."

Robert Manni, Guy's Guy: Technology has had a huge impact on dating, and it can be a great tool for meeting prospective partners. So, the answer is a resounding "yes" for trying online dating. Here are a few tips to help you get started. Before signing up for any sites or apps, decide what you want from the experience. Save time, psychic energy, and money by limiting your initial foray into the online dating world by signing up for only a few services. Talk to your single friends about their experiences and ask them for dating tips in setting up your profile. Most importantly, don't limit your dating life to the online world. Meeting other singles the old fashioned way—through friends, at work, by taking a class, and just by living your life still works. After all, no matter how successful you are at meeting people online, the real chemistry test for a new relationship happens when you meet face-to-face.

Dating Advice On How To Attract The Right Man

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert Iris Benrubi to offer their dating advice for those trying to find the right man. Follow these dating tips if you want to start having success on your dates.

Dating Advice On Attracting The Right Man

1. Be feminine. This is very different from being "masculine," meaning you're focused on being independent and strong. A straight man doesn't want to be in competition with a controlling partner. Women have more success in maintaining a relationship when they are in touch with their gentler side.

2. Surrender. You need to follow your man's lead every once in a while. Constantly trying to dictate what your partner does is a sure way to cause conflict in your relationship. Also, it can be very emasculating if you're always telling your man what to do. A man is happiest when he can be the leader and guide, so let him do it from time to time.

3. Prize yourself. Get in the right mindset when you're pursuing relationships. You need to truly know yourself and be confident in who you are to have success with a man. The experts dating advice is that if you see yourself as his prize, you won't falter in your attitude towards him. Men will definitely be attracted when you carry yourself in this manner.

Relationship Advice: True Love or Rebound?

By

Amy Osmond Cook for Divorce Support Center

It's a familiar scene; we watch a friend wallow in a doomed relationship for a while only to hear him or her declare their true love was found in a brand new relationship. For example, as fans watched multi-platinum recording artist Taylor Swift switch from her celebrity relationship with Calvin Harris to cozying on the beach with new squeeze Tom Hiddleston, it makes one wonder if this truly was perfect timing for a new love to grow, or simply a rebound relationship? Sometimes it's hard to know for sure. But if your new relationship feels a little too good to be true, here are some dating tips and relationship advice to determine if you could be somebody's rebound.

Relationship Advice On Rebounding

1. Your partner just got out of a long-term relationship. Following a failed relationship, it's always wise to take some time alone to realign one's goals and evaluate lessons learned from that experience. This time is valuable to ensure you don't make the same mistakes in future relationships. But if you are involved with someone who has recently left a long-term relationship, you need to determine if your new partner was ready to move on, or are you simply filling in as the emotional gap? “If you’ve met someone you like that recently got out of a relationship, take it slowly,” advised relationship expert and blogger Alina. “Even if he or she says they are completely over their ex and have moved on, it is in your best interest to take your time getting to know this person a little more before giving yourself the green light to emotionally dive in.”

2. The relationship is moving at a fast pace. You may have dated for a short time, but the relationship has already escalated to a highly physical and committed relationship. While you are spending every moment together and talking about your future, consider how well you know this person. If this relationship is moving at rocket speed despite the fact you know very little about your partner, you may be the rebound for your partner’s crushed heart. “I think I married for the wrong reasons. Instead of following my heart and doing something that made me really happy, I just did it for the idea of everything,” said Britney Spears of her failed marriage to Kevin Federline. She talked about her decision to wed in a 2008 For the Record documentary.

Related Link: Five Ways To Cope With A Relationship Breakdown Just Like The Celebs

3. The former flame is the third member of your relationship. It’s common for people to share stories of old relationships. But if a past love is a common component to your romantic dinners, this could be a sign that he or she hasn’t moved on from that former relationship. It’s likely you are a vehicle in helping your partner get back with the person they truly want to be with. The staff at eHarmony.com offered relationship advice with the following scenario as a warning: “He talks about his ex all the time. He mentions that you look like her, or that your mannerisms or interests remind him of her. He takes you places he once took his ex – and tells you so. If he’s still preoccupied with someone else, he’s not ready to fully move on.”

Related Link: Expert Dating Advice: How to Rebound from a Solo Holiday Season

4. Friends are surprised your partner is dating again. You and your partner’s friends are helpful in determining if the person you’re sharing your time with is worthy of that commitment. If you see outsiders shaking their heads at the relationship, it may be a warning sign. The staff at eHarmony warn that the new relationship “may be poorly timed and concur that sometimes it’s wise to trust the red flags coming from others.” Finding someone to share your life with is a gift. But if the foundation for that new relationship is sitting on shaky ground, it is destined to fall.

By being aware of your new love’s past, keeping control of the pace, ensuring former partners are out of the picture, and measuring the reactions of others who care about you and your partner, you are lined up to score big on the relationship front rather than being sidelined as a rebound.

Dating Advice: Why Do I

Attract The Wrong Men?

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert David Steele to offer their dating advice for those who feel that they're meeting the wrong men on dates. Follow these dating tips if you want to start attracting the right men.

Dating Advice On Why You Attract The Wrong Men

1. Fear. Dating can be scary, but that fear of change makes people stay in their comfort zones. Learn to push yourself past where you're comfortable so you don't miss a chance at finding your man. The best dating advice the experts have is to take a risk.

2. Doubt. It's common to feel doubtful towards relationships, but you should really try to change this mindset if you want to find the right man. Having doubt can truly sabotage your chances of having a successful relationship with the men you meet.

3. Low expectations. Don't try to settle for men who don't meet what you want. Look for one hundred percent rather than eighty, and say no to those who don't meet your expectations. Be careful to not reject men for superficial reasons, however.

Dating Advice: What Is A Man Looking For In A Woman?

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert Cyndi Olin to offer their dating advice for those who want to know what men are looking for in a woman. Follow these dating tips if you're interested in finding the love of your life!

Dating Advice On What Men Are Looking For

1. Attraction. The first thing men look for in women is attraction. Whether it be physically, mentally, or emotionally, a man is looking for something in you that pulls him in. If there's no attraction or curiosity then there can't be a relationship.

2. Happiness. Another aspect men really look for in women is positivity! Don't sabotage your relationship with negative thoughts or attitudes. A man doesn't want to be with someone who is unhappy all the time so try to look at the brighter side of life. Your happiness will act as a magnet that reels him in.

Relationship Advice: 3 Ways To Scratch The Seven-Year Itch

By

Amy Osmond Cook for Divorce Support Center

If you listen to the relationship experts, the seven-year itch can just as easily be called the three-year itch, four-year itch, or the twelve-year itch. “There’s no consensus among experts as to why the seven-year itch may occur,” explained relationship expert Jennifer Nagy. Experts identify irritating contributors like hasty marriage proposals (Pamela Anderson or Khloe Kardashian), declining interest in his or her’s partner, and growing family responsibilities. But with married couples facing a 50-50 chance at success, it makes one wonder how to extend the rather short shelf life of a marriage, despite the growing needs of maintaining a life together.

Fortunately, society is filled with celebrity couples who have defied the odds. Will and Jada Pinkett Smith will celebrate twenty years together next year, Bill and Melinda Gates have been married over twenty years, and Billy Crystal and his wife, Janice, have been together forty-six years. If you and your partner are truly committed to making a marriage work, here is my relationship advice where I provide three ways to scratch that seven-year itch. Follow these dating tips to increase the longevity of your marriage.

Relationship Advice On How To Have A Lasting Marriage

1. Search for the things you first loved about each other. “I just love him more and more,” said Reese Witherspoon about her five-year marriage to Jim Toth. “I want so much for him to be happy, and he wants me to be happy.” Life is filled with distractions that make it difficult for those once-endearing traits to present themselves. Between family, changing interests, and work, we have many things demanding a portion of our time. Remember: You committed to share your life, dreams, and your whole self with this person. Don’t take that promise lightly, and don’t search for perfection—you won’t find it. Instead, uncover the things about your partner that make you feel secure, more focused, and better able to grow and expand your evolving interests as a couple.

2. Make the private moments meaningful. “For us,” explained Chrissy Teigen about her marriage to John Legend, “it’s exciting to have time away and then be together and make up for that lost time.” As a mature relationship grows, the opportunities to share alone time are few and far between, but the need to find that time becomes so important. “When the sexual intimacy in the marriage can be nurtured and given the time to grow, then the marriage will be successful,” wrote Dawn Michael. “The problem, of course, is that many couples lose the closeness that brought them together in the first place.”

Related Link: Relationship Advice: Keeping The Fireworks In Your Relationship

3. Leaving is not an option. “At our facility, it is not uncommon to see a loving spouse sit with his or her aging partner while illness, dementia, or frailty robs them of meaningful twilight years together,” said Scott Hanson, executive director of Lake Ridge Senior Living. “Even though the loved one may no longer recognize him, the thought of leaving or loving her any less is simply not an option.” That kind of commitment through good times and bad is what strengthens the bond Gisele Bundchen shares with her husband Tom Brady. “My father always said, the quality of your life depends on the quality of your relationships, and I think, no matter how challenging it was, we’ve always been supportive of one another. I think that’s the most important thing you can have in life.” With the array of circumstances that continually take shots at a relationship, it’s hard to know whether or not a marriage will be strained at any specific time. According to Nagy, “The studies do seem to agree that couples need to put in the extra effort every day in order to sustain happy marriages. If a couple doesn’t prioritize their relationship, their marriage will fall by the wayside – no matter how long they’ve been together.”

Dating Advice: How To Go From Single To Married

On this week's episode of Single in Stilettos, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to relationship expert Jaki Sabourin to offer their dating advice for those who wish to go from dating to marriage. Follow these dating tips if you're interested in finding the love of your life.

Dating Advice On Getting Married

1. Keep your word to yourself. Know what you want and go for it. Don't go against your initial intention of getting married. The experts dating advice is to understand commitment and don't send mixed messages to the men you're seeing. This is how you'll make space for your husband.

2. Watch your behavior. Stop doing things that wouldn't serve you well if you were married. Act like a wife and develop that mindset. This will ensure that you behave well when you actually get married. Your future husband will surely appreciate it.

3. Go out and be curious. Don't be afraid to ask questions in the beginning stages of dating. This is how you find out if you're in alignment with the man you're out with. Talking about what you want will save you from wasting time and it won't feel so personal if it doesn't work out.

Relationship Advice: From Website to First Sight

By Lori Zaslow and Jennifer Zucher for Project Soulmate with contributing writer Erin Infelice

Dating in today's world is complicated since most people choose to make the first move from behind cellphone screens. With dating apps and social media sites that offer personal messaging options, you can reach anyone at any time. But when it comes time to finally meet the man from behind the screen, it can get scary really fast. How can you be so sure that he isn't faking it? As relationship experts, we understand that this is a nerve-wracking situation, but don't be too afraid because you might just miss out on a great catch! Follow our relationship advice to make sure you aren't getting catfished anytime soon.

Relationship Advice For Those Who Want To Meet Their Online Crush

1. Do a thorough background check. Before taking the first leap of faith, you want to make sure you are definitely going to meet the person you think you're meeting. This might seem crazy, but your first step should be to Google him. See if any links come up for Facebook, Instagram or LinkedIn, and take a look at his profiles. This gives you an insight into both his personal and professional lives and gives you the assurance that he actually exists. If his profile says he works at a law firm but his Facebook says he's a bartender, you might want him to clarify this info before deciding to go on a date night.

2. Look for tagged pictures. Make sure he's tagged in pictures from friends and family, and that these pictures are from multiple events. If he only has pictures of himself, chances are he stole the pictures from another person and is catfishing you. It's much easier to copycat pictures that someone uploaded of themselves than it is to take pictures from others' profiles.

Related Link: Relationship Advice: When to Share Your Passwords

3. Make sure you're talking to the guy you see in the pictures. Try talking on the phone with him, FaceTiming him, or maybe even using an app like Snapchat to catch a live picture of him before deciding to meet up. The more proof you have that he is the same guy, the more comfortable you're going to be when it's time to meet up.

4. Pay attention to your interactions. If he keeps rescheduling your first date or doesn't actually make any effort to go on a first date, chances are he's not who he says he is online. Try not to allow too much time between a cancelled and rescheduled date, or else you both may lose interest altogether.

Related Link: Dating Advice Q&A: How Can You Know If Someone is Being Honest Online?

5. Have an escape plan. Just like any date, a date with an online match can easily turn sour quickly. The best dating advice we offer new online daters is to keep your first date short and sweet – maybe grab coffee instead of dinner. And make sure you tell a couple of friends where you will be so that they can keep tabs on the situation if he turns out to be someone other than the guy in the pics. If anything does go wrong, you will be able to remove yourself from the situation quickly.

6. Once you've decided that you feel comfortable, go for it. It's not uncommon for people to choose the online dating route. This means that there is a pretty good chance that the guy you are planning to meet is totally normal. Don't forget – you found him on a dating site, so if you think it's weird then maybe that's not the place for you to be looking for potential dates. If you've followed our relationship advice, are comfortable with everything he says and portrays online, then it's definitely time to try it out.

Happy swiping!

Relationship Advice: 4 Ways to Keep Your Long-Term Relationship Hot this Summer

By

Josh Ringle

Summertime is the perfect time to heat up your relationship to new heights. Those in long-term relationships can really take advantage of the long summer days by spending more time together, and finding creatively fun ways to spend that time with each other. If you are looking for ways to keep your long-term relationship hot over the summer, look at the following pieces of relationship advice.

These pieces of relationship advice will keep your long-term relationship hot in the warm summer months!

1. Romantic getaways: Take advantage of travel deals, the weather, and those extra days off to take a nice trip with your love. Go to somewhere romantic like Cabo or Hawaii, or find a more local place. Don't break the bank, but don't be frugal! This trip will really heat up your love life with your partner and the two of you will definitely enjoy spending time together away, alone, in a room by yourself.

2. New date ideas: Cupid has plenty of date ideas, and there will certainly be one that is new for you! Try a new restaurant or a new at-home idea. Whatever it is, changing things up is a great piece of relationship advice and will surely bring joy into your love life. While it may be hard to come up with new ideas to do together, there are plenty of options to keep things fresh and new, especially in how you and your lover go on dates.

3. Try new and different things: Being in a long-term relationship, sometimes things can get stale. Of course, new date ideas will help that, but it is not just dates that make up a relationship. Trying new and different things, like new vacations, new ways to communicate, and maybe even a new game on your phone, can really make a difference and keep things hot. Even trying a different place to go on a walk can keep things exciting and keep the love flowing!

4. Cool off: The best way to keep your summer hot is to take advantage of the weather and have fun in the water. Whether it is a pool, the beach, or a lake, being out together and enjoying the warm weather will definitely make the two of you happy. Take advantage of water parks and spend a day acting like eight year-olds or go find a romantic secluded waterfall off a hiking trail to go swimming in. Whatever it is, there are plenty of watery options to make your love heat up!

Celebrity News : 'Bachelorette' Contestant Robby Cries About JoJo Fletcher Hearing Rumors About Past Relationship

By

Nicole Caico

Contestant Robby Hayes is one of the last men standing on this season's The Bachelorette. Hometown dates were on the July 18 episode, and according to UsMagazine.com, Hayes' mother informed him while he was home, "Your ex's roommate has made it look like you broke up to go on the show.” This isn’t the first time Hayes’ past relationship with Hope Higginbotham has threatened the possibility of his new celebrity relationship with JoJo Fletcher. Higginbotham’s roommate, Alex, and ex-contestant Chad Johnson have both claimed that Hayes ended the relationship to go on The Bachelorette.

This celebrity news has us indulging in the reality TV drama. What are some ways to keep things that happened in your past relationship out of your new relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

No matter how long or short a past relationship lasted, pieces of what happened between you and your ex can bounce around in your mind for a long time after. Don’t let side effects from your last relationship spoil something good you have going on now. Cupid has some dating advice:

1. Cut ties: If you haven’t already, cleanse your life of your ex. Unfollow your ex on social media, block them if necessary, and delete the contact information in your phone. Communicating with your ex, or seeing posts, will keep re-opening your history. In order to keep your past relationship out of your new relationship, follow an “out of sight out of mind” based strategy.

2. No deja vu: Don’t bring up the topic of your ex to your new significant other out of the blue. If you're visiting a place you used to go with your ex, try to keep that to yourself. If you're in a fight and your new significant other says or does something that your ex used to do, don't point it out. The moral of the story is, you're in a new relationship with an entirely new person. Your new boo shouldn't have to feel constantly compared to or reminded of the last person you dated.

3. Move on: Focus on what makes your new relationship different or better than your last and dwell on that. You should be looking ahead, and planning new experiences with the person you're involved with now. Remind yourself that what's done is done and move forward without baggage.

Relationship Advice: How Do You Know When It's Right To Move In With Someone?

By

Joshua Pompey

So you think you're ready to move in with your significant other? After all, he's fun, treats you well, and let's face it, he really only gets on your nerves about 20 percent of the time. What more could you ask for in a man? But before you go unpacking in his place, you better make sure you're prepared for what comes with the move ahead. Moving in with the wrong person can be a nightmarish experience. Especially when you find yourself packing up your bags and single again. As a relationship expert, here is my relationship advice and thoughts on whether you should make the big move.

Relationship Advice: 4 Questions To Ask Yourself Before Moving In With Someone

Are you compatible living partners? What does his place look like when you visit or sleep over? Are there socks always laying around his apartment floor? Does he ever make his bed? Does it look like some of his dishes have taken a permanent residence in his sink? If you too have a fondness for living off paper plates and doing dishes once a month, this may be a match made in heaven. But for all you women out there who prefer to keep clean, the best dating advice I can offer you is that you may want to reconsider moving in with someone who will unintentionally turn you into his own personal maid. This will eventually build resentment and lead to big problems down the road.

Related Link: How to Make A Man Initiate The First Move

Will you be a guest or a resident? How big is his place? Is there room for your 25 pairs of designer shoes? Is he willing to let you convert his man cave into a floral masterpiece of feminine energy oozing out of every wall? At the end of the day, you need to be able to feel like you're at home with the person you're moving in with. Maybe you don't have to tear down his man cave on an extreme level. But at the minimum, make sure he is open to letting you provide a little personal touch to your place so that you feel like you are a resident, not a visitor.

Related Link: Dating Advice: 5 Steps To Securing A Second Date

How often do you fight? Fighting is one thing when you live apart. You can get mad, hug it out, then have some space for a day or more. When you live together, that person who is driving you crazy will be there when you wake up, eat, and go to sleep. There is no escape. Everyone will fight once in a while, but if you are fighting on a weekly, or even monthly basis, moving in is an absolutely horrendous idea.

Related Link: Dating Advice: Does A Man Really Have to Call?

Are you trying to heal the relationship? Some couples that are struggling in their relationships figure that moving in will make them closer. Maybe if you live together you will stop fighting as much and form a stronger bond right? Wrong. This will only end the relationship at a rapid-fire pace. My relationship advice: Work out whatever issues you have or strengthen the love between you and your man before you jump to that next level of sharing a residence.
