In this week's Single in Stiletto relationship advice video, founder and matchmaker Suzanne Oshima talks to dating expert David Crowther about one part of looking for a relationship and love that you must accept: rejection.

Expert Relationship Advice About Rejection

As Oshima says, "Nobody likes rejection." For some people, if they face too much rejection, they want to stop dating all together, which is a huge mistake. According to the relationship advice video, it can affect us physically. For instance, we may experience a tight feeling in our chest or the blood rush to our face. "With the proper outlook and a grandiose goal, it's something you can overcome," Crowther explains.

The dating expert also discusses the idea of the default future, which means that, if you keep doing what you're doing, you're going to continue following the same path. Instead, you must step outside of your comfort zone and put yourself in the position to be rejected. Eventually, you'll realize that those guys aren't the right fit for you anyways!

Middle-aged women often think that men their age only want to date younger women, but that's not always true. According to this relationship advice video, it really just depends. If a man is going through a divorce and experiences a mid-life crisis, he may feel the need to date a younger woman to validate himself or make him feel desirable. If a man wants children, he'll be attracted to women of childbearing years.

As this dating expert explains, there are also men, though, who aren't going through a life change or don't want children and will date people closer to their age. For the most part, men want to date someone within 10 years of their age.

Expert Love Advice About What Men Want

The relationship experts first clarify that beauty is not an option. As Oshima explains, "Ladies, physical looks are the number one thing, but I'm talking about the number one quality a woman should have in order to get a man." Crowther then responds with his expert love advice: It's going to vary from guy to guy! "Some men love to be challenged, while some men love to be nurtured or taken care of," he shares. The dating expert encourages you to figure out what part of you is most important for a guy to accept; if he's not okay with that piece of your personality, then he's not the one for you. It's that simple!
