

Celebrity Baby News: Former 'Pump Rules' Star Stassi Schroeder Reveals Sex of First Child

By Diana Iscenko

In latest celebrity news, reality TV star Stassi Schroeder announced she'll be having a daughter with husband Beau Clark. The Instagram post was the celebrity couple's first confirmation of the Vanderpump Rules alum's pregnancy, despite UsMagazine.com breaking the news two weeks earlier. Clark shared his own post about the pair's celebrity baby, writing, "I was raised by great women, and the lessons I learned from them I'll [forward] to my daughter and then some!"

In celebrity baby news, Stassi and Beau will be welcoming a baby girl. What are some ways to prepare for a baby girl versus a boy?

Cupid's Advice:

Expecting a child is an exciting time! Your family is growing and there's a lot to prepare for. It's important to know that a baby's brain develops differently for each sex. If you want a sneak peek into your little girl talents and struggles, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Talking: On average, girls start talking a month earlier than boys. Girls also tend to have larger vocabularies than boys as early as 18 and 24 months. However, reading to your child has more of an impact on their vocabulary than biological sex does, so be sure to talk and read to your baby as much as you can!

2. Spatial skills: Boys tend to better understand the space objects take up. Boys can usually understand how objects appear rotated between three to five months old, which is earlier than girls. Make sure to play with your daughter in ways that help her with this: build with building blocks, teach her to count, throw a ball around with her.

3. Potty training: Girls have the upper hand when it comes to potty training. They start toilet training between 22 and 30 months, which is three months to a year earlier than boys.

Girls pee on their own approximately four months earlier than boys. Girls also are able to sit still to poop around three-and-a-quarter-years-old, which is five months earlier than boys.

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Jon Hamm and former co-star Anna Osceola have been spotted together, sparking relationship rumors between the two actors. UsMagazine.com confirms the celebrity couple is likely in a relationship. The Mad Men alums have been spotted together playing tennis and picking up food in the midst of the pandemic.

There's a newly identified celebrity couple in Hollywood! What are some reasons to keep your relationship under wraps at first?

Cupid's Advice:

A new relationship is always exciting! You might be tempted to tell everyone in your life about your new love, but there are some benefits to keeping a new relationship private. If you're not sure if keeping a new relationship under wraps is for you, Cupid has some advice:

1. You can connect on a deeper level: Keeping your new relationship private gives you and your partner a chance to establish your relationship. There's a lot of learning to do at the start of a relationship and keeping it private will allow the two of you to create a strong foundation.

2. There's less pressure: One way to have privacy in a relationship is to keep it off social media. This prevents people from having expectations about your relationship. This will keep the relationship between the two of you and away from those who aren't rooting for your happiness.

3. It will end cleanly: Relationships are always a shot in the dark and they don't always work out. If your new relationship wasn't built to last, keeping it private will make it easier to move on. You can rely on your inner circle without having it questioned by outsiders.

Fashion Trend: Celebrity Looks On the Way Out

By Diana Iscenko

Fashion is a fun way to express yourself, with plenty of celebrity styles you might want to try out. No matter your personal style, there's always going to be enough fashion trends for you to choose from. While many of these bold celebrity looks last the test of time, many fall out of fashion as quickly as they came.

Here are five celebrity fashion trends that are already on the way out:

1. Tiny Sunglasses

Tiny shades were a major red carpet fashion trend in 2019, with everyone from Kylie Jenner to Millie Bobby Brown wearing them. The trend is a revival of '90s fashion, even though it was first popularized in the '60s. Despite this, the tiny sunglasses trend has been losing its momentum. Several celebrity fashion brands, like Rihanna's Fenty and Kim Kardashian West's collaboration with Carolina Lemke, have moved on to big shades again.

2. Tiny Handbags

Also in the "tiny fashion" department, many celebrities were spotted with tiny handbags last year. This celebrity fashion trend debuted at Paris Fashion Week and was eventually picked up by stars like Lady Gaga and Lizzo. While the trend was fun and eye-catching, it didn't catch on with the public since a handbag small enough to hold with a single finger isn't exactly practical.

3. Weird Animal Prints

Cheetah print and snakeskin patterns will always have a place in celebrity style, but 2019's animal print trends didn't stop there. Zebra and cow print were popular trends in 2019. Zebra print is another throwback '90s trend, but it didn't last long even with the support of Gigi and Bella Hadid. Cow print similarly lost steam halfway through 2019.

4. Harnesses

This male-centered trend took off during 2019's award show season. Celebrities like Michael B. Jordan and Timothée Chalamet were spotted sporting harnesses at the SAG Awards and the Golden Globes. As much fun as a sparkly harness and black tux combo is, the fashion trend didn't make it off the red carpet.

5. Neutral Monochromes

The winter of 2019 brought us a much more wearable celebrity fashion trend with neutral monochrome outfits. Layered ensembles of greys and beiges were popular on celebrities like Margot Robbie and Hailey Bieber. The trend never had a chance to catch on before the summer neon trend pushed it out of fashion

Celebrity Wedding: Raven-Symoné Marries Miranda Maday in Surprise Ceremony

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Raven-Symoné announced on Instagram that she and girlfriend Miranda Maday were married in a surprise ceremony on June 18. According to UsMagazine.com, the celebrity wedding was an intimate backyard ceremony due to the Coronavirus pandemic. The celebrity couple has kept their relationship private, but Symoné opened up about her new wife on her Instagram post: “I got married to a woman who understands me from trigger to joy, from breakfast to midnight snack, from stage to home.”

In celebrity wedding news, Raven-Symone is officially off the market. What are some ways to explain a small wedding ceremony with few guests to extended family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Having a small wedding might be perfect for you. It's more intimate. It's cheaper. It's less stressful. The only downside is chopping down your guest list. If you're worried about your distant relatives and coworkers asking why they weren't invited, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Blame your budget: One way to curve these awkward conversations is by blaming your budget. Tell those that didn't make the guest list that your tight budget prevented you from inviting everyone you wanted to celebrate with you.

Related Link: Dating Advice: 3 Best Places for Women to Meet Women

2. Blame your family: Another way to dodge this question is to bring up how you want your wedding to be intimate. Tell them that the guest list is made up of only your closest family members and your wedding party.

3. Blame your venue: When all else fails, bring up your venue. Tell those not invited that the venue you chose has limitations on how many people can attend and that you wish you could've invited more loved ones.

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Bachelor alums Nick Viall and Andi Dorfman were spotted on a run together in Santa Monica, according to UsMagazine.com. The celebrity exes were seen two days after Viall revealed he was dating someone on his podcast, the Viall Files. While the reality TV star didn't give any details, he discussed "a conversation with someone that [he's] dating." A few weeks prior, Dorfman joked about reaching out to her exes during quarantine, sharing a post that read, "I'm about two days and/or three martinis away from texting all of my exes." She included a screenshot of a blank group text to Viall and Chris Soules, who were both contestants on her season of The Bachelorette.

Exes Nick Viall and Andi Dorfman are starting celebrity couple rumors after they were spotted running together. What are some ways to know if you should reunite with your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Your relationship ended for a reason, but you can't stop thinking about your ex. How do you know if you should really give it another chance with your ex? Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Time has passed: You and your ex have spent time apart. Maybe, you've both grown. Maybe, you can't remember what fight broke you up. You may be able to start again with a clean slate. If extended time apart helped you realize you still want to be with your ex, why wait any longer?

2. You fixed the problem: Remember the reason you broke up in the first place? Maybe it's not a problem anymore. If there was a specific issue that broke you two up—like long-distance no longer being an issue—and that issue has been solved, it might be worth it to try again.

Celebrity Break-Ups: Julianne Hough Is 'Super Upset' Amid Brooks Laich Split

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Julianne Hough is having a hard time with her recent separation from ex-NHL player Brooks Laich. The celebrity couple split in May after almost three years of marriage. A source told UsMagazine.com that the Dancing with the Stars alum is “super upset” about the pair’s upcoming celebrity divorce saying, “Julianne and Brooks’ split was a long time coming... There’s still a love there, but not in a romantic sense.”

In celebrity break-up news, Julianne is having a tough time dealing with her recent split. What are some happy things you can do while coping with a split to boost your mood?

Cupid's Advice:

The end of a relationship is always hard. You need time to grieve no matter how it ended. It's also important not to let the grief be the only thing you feel. If you're having a hard time feeling positive after your breakup, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Reconnect with friends: It's easy to distance yourself from your friends during your relationship, but it's important to spend time with them after a breakup. Your close friends are there for you and this is when you need them most. If they're long-distance friends, schedule times to call them!

2. Fall in love with your hobbies: Some of your free time will be spent being upset about your breakup and that's okay. Try spending more of that time getting back into hobbies you may have stopped doing during your relationship. This is your time to experiment with new activities, too!

3. Say yes to new experiences: Accept every social invitation you have. Spend a night out with friends or have lunch with your family. Even if it doesn't feel genuine at the beginning, you'll be glad you spent time with people you care about instead of holing up and watching Netflix again.

Food Trend: Oat Milk

By Diana Iscenko

Vegan-friendly alternatives have become super popular in the food world over the past decade. In terms of the health trend that is alternative foods, nothing else has risen to fame quite like oat milk. A study by the Specialty Coffee Association found that the popularity of oat milk has increased by 425% in the last year alone. The lactose-free, nut-free super milk is becoming a common alternative to dairy milk, joining almond milk and soy milk on supermarket shelves across the country.

Whether you'd opt for oat milk in your latte or you're thinking about making a shift to only oat milk in your house, there's plenty of room for you on the oat milk bandwagon. Here are four reasons why you should ditch your dairy milk and hop on this food trend:

1. It works with most diets.

Some people turn to dairy-free milk due to allergies and other dietary restrictions. Oat milk is free from lactose, nuts, soy and gluten, which are some of the most common allergens. Most other dairy-free milks only focus on removing lactose, but still have other allergens (We're looking at you, almond milk and soy milk!). It's also free from any animal products, so it's perfect for vegans, too.

Related Link: Food Tips: Natural Sugar Replacements

2. It's environmentally friendly.

For some, switching to a dairy-free milk is due to its impact on the environment. Oat milk uses very little water to produce, making it the least impactful non-dairy milk on the market. According to a 2018 study, dairy farming uses 628 liters of water to produce one liter of milk. Oat milk only needs 48 liters of water.

3. It's great with coffee

Oat milk's claim to fame is partly due to its popularity with baristas. Oat milk steams really well and gives your drink an extra creaminess that other dairy-free milks don't. Many coffee shops offer the alternative now. Plus, coffee creamers and bottled coffees made with oat milk have started to hit grocery store shelves.

Related Link: Food Trend: 5 Benefits of Lavender Lemonade & Tea

4. Most importantly, it tastes like milk.

The best news is that oat milk tastes pretty much like dairy milk. Many other milk alternatives taste vaguely like its main ingredient (i.e. almonds). They can also have different textures, making them either too thick or too watery. Oat milk is pretty neutral-tasting, which makes it great for those who drink milk by itself.

Celebrity News: 'Bachelorette' Becca Kufrin Doesn't Know Relationship Status with Garrett Yrigoyen After His Pro-Cop Remarks

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Bachelorette Becca Kufirin reveals fiancé Garrett Yrigoyen's controversial Instagram post may be the end of their celebrity relationship. In a recent episode of the Bachelor Happy Hour podcast, Kufirin said, "All I can say right now is that I don't know ... about my relationship with Garrett at this point." The reality TV star initially spoke out about Yrigoyen's post, which included a lengthy statement that said he "couldn't sit back and not support" his "many friends and family in law enforcement." Kufirin initially condemned the post, but she didn't think it was "meant in a malicious way." On the podcast, she apologizes to Rachel Lindsay, the franchise's only black Bachelorette, for her initial response, saying, "That conversation deserved my complete, undivided attention. It deserved much more care and thoughtfulness on my end."

In celebrity news, Bachelorette couple Becca and Garrett may not be living happily ever after. What do you do if you discover a difference in morals between yourself and your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

You and your partner won't always see eye-to-eye, but there are some things that are harder to compromise on. If you've recently realized you and your partner have different moral values and don't know how to approach that, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Understand where they're coming from: It's easier to understand your partner's opinions if you understand why they think that way. Consider how they grew up: heir family, their neighborhood, their education. Have productive conversations with your partner to better understand their values.

Related Link: Celebrity News: 'Bachelorette' Becca Kufrin Speaks Out About Garrett Yrigoyen's Controversial Police Support

2. Find common ground: Even if you and your partner are disagreeing about a topic overall, there is bound to be something you agree on. Try to focus on these agreements and don't force each other to change. You're likely trying to both educate each other, but that doesn't mean it will change how either of you think.

Related Link: Celebrity News: 'The Bachelor' Names Matt James as First Black Male Lead

3. Know your boundaries: It's important to communicate, but there's only so much you can compromise on. If you feel like you and your partner are disagreeing on something that's fundamentally important to you, you'll need to think about how this will affect your future relationship. If this disagreement is really a deal-breaker, it isn't going to go away.

By Diana Iscenko

"They clashed on so many levels and being in quarantine together heightened their problems to the point of no return," the source told UsMagazine.com. Hosting her own talk show and coaching on The Voice required Clarkson to spend a lot of her time in Hollywood. However, the source reveals that the singer's celebrity ex "prefers their quiet life in Nashville."

In celebrity divorce news, quarantine heightened Kelly Clarkson and her husband's relationship issues. What are some ways to work on your relationship in quarantine?

Cupid's Advice:

Quarantine can be hard on any relationship, but it can take an especially heavy toll on those who are already having issues. If you're worried about COVID-19 ending your relationship for you, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Make sure you're on the same page: Everyone is extra stressed out right now. Take time to discuss what is troubling you both most. Once you're both aware of what about the pandemic is worrying you most, you can work as a team to find ways to deal with it.

Montana.

In celebrity divorce news, Kelly Clarkson has decided to part ways with her husband after seven years of marriage. How do you know your relationship is over and not fixable?

Cupid's Advice:

It's hard to come to terms with things when your relationship is ending. Is it something you can work through or is it over? If you're thinking about calling it quits with your partner, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. They're no longer your go-to: You just got amazing news, but your partner isn't the first to know. You want to go to a concert, but you don't think to bring them as your plus one. While this might not seem like major problems, it shows that your partner is losing importance to you. You're feeling closed-off from your partner, which could show that your relationship isn't working as well as it was.

2. You've stopped talking about the future: Planning for your future together is an important part of being a couple. next season of the long-running show. What are some ways to meet a diverse dating pool in the “real world”?

It’s important to put yourself out there whenever trying to find a new partner, so why not put yourself into more diverse spaces? If you’re not sure where to start, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Start volunteering: Find a cause you’re passionate about and volunteer at a local organization. Volunteering brings different people together for a common passion. Not only will you meet new people but you already know you have something in common!

Beauty Tips: Choosing and Using Blush Based On Your Needs

By Diana Iscenko

The makeup world is constantly evolving and it feels like there's always more beauty trends to keep up with. It can feel overwhelming to figure out the best routine for you. Today, we're going to focus on finding the perfect blush.

There are four different kinds of blush: powder, cream, gel and stain. Each kind interacts differently with certain skin types. They have different pigmentation and finishes on your cheeks. Luckily, Cupid has some beauty tricks to help you find the perfect blush for your skin type.

Whether you want to up your date night makeup look or improve your daily makeup routine, here are four different types of blush you might want to add to your makeup bag:

1. Powder Blush

This blush is easy to blend and looks great on everyone. Powder blush is the most traditional type of blush, so it comes in a bunch of colors and in every price point. The only drawback is that powder blush doesn't last super long, so you'll need to reapply if you want to keep your soft glow going.

Powder blush works with all skin types. It's especially flattering on people with smooth complexions or larger pores. If you have large pores or bumpy skin, try using a matte powder blush instead of a shimmer! Too much shine will bring attention to your pores and imperfections.

Applying powder blush is easy. Use a dense blush brush to apply the powder on your cheeks. Use sweeping movements toward your hairline. If you want to go the extra mile, you can use a smaller brush in circular motions to get some extra blending after your initial application.

Related Link: Beauty Trends: Date Night Makeup Looks to Match Your Style

2. Cream Blush

Looking for a dewy look? Cream blush is perfect for you! It's also very pigmented, which lets the blush last all day without needing to be reapplied. Cream blush is hydrating, too. It'll give your face a fresh and youthful look and won't dry out your skin.

Cream blush works for most skin types, except oily skin. The oils found in the creamy formula will prevent it from being able to stick to oilier skin. It can also clog pores and cause breakouts. If you have oily skin, cream blush isn't your best bet.

Applying cream blush is more like applying foundation. Use a small stippling brush to pick up the blush and apply it to your cheeks with light, short strokes. Then use either a damp makeup sponge or clean fingertips to blend it out. Be careful with cream blush! Its strong pigmentation means it's easy to overapply.

Related Link: Beauty Trend: Smokey, Golden, and Monochrome Eyes

3. Gel Blush

This blush isn't as heavy and pigmented as cream blush, but it still gives a fresh, dewy look. It's especially great for summer because it's lighter formula is less likely to clog your pores. Unfortunately, it doesn't last as long and it's harder to show up on deeper skin tones.

Gel blush works well for light to medium skin tones. The light pigmentation might be able to build up on darker skin tones, but it might not be worth the extra effort. Using a small amount of cream blush on deeper skin tones will give a similar effect without overloading the product on your skin.

The application for gel blush is similar to cream blush. Because it's less pigmented, you can apply it straight to the apples of your cheeks and then blend the gel out with a damp makeup sponge or clean fingers.

Related Link: Beauty Trend: Red Lipstick

4. Stain Blush

Also called tint blush, stain blush gives you long-lasting color with a barely-there feel. As the name suggests, it stains your cheeks. It can be hard to work with because it dries so quickly. It can dry out your skin, so remember to moisturize before using it!

Stain blush works for all skin types. It works especially well for people who tend to sweat because it so strongly sticks to your cheeks after application. Those with drier skin should make sure your skin is hydrated, so it doesn't dry you out more.

Be careful when applying this blush! Lightly tap the stain into your cheeks with clean fingers and blend with a damp makeup sponge. Apply a little at a time and remember to blend quickly. Once it sets into your skin, it'll be hard to blend out.

Celebrity News: Arie Luyendyk Jr. Says 'Bachelor' Concept 'Barely Works' for Finding Love

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity news, Bachelor Arie Luyendyk Jr. says the reality TV show's concept "barely works" when it comes to finding love off-camera. On a recent episode of the Couple Things With Shawn and Andrew podcast, Luyendyk Jr. reveals how he feels the show is unrealistic: "It's not natural to have two people that you [have], at the end, and then have to break up with one person and get engaged to another person an hour later." The Bachelor alum isn't completely writing off the show as he married his runner-up, Lauren Burnham. Despite not giving his wife the final rose, Lyendyke Jr. and Burnham tied the knot at their celebrity wedding in January 2019. Burnham also told the podcast, “it’s so hard to [build trust] in such a short amount of time.”

In celebrity news, Arie Luyendyk came out saying that The Bachelor is ‘unnatural’ when it comes to finding love. What are some unique ways to go about finding love?

Cupid’s Advice:

Most couples meet a partner through mutual friends or dating apps. We can’t all sign up for The Bachelor, but there’s always other ways to meet a new partner. If you’ve given up on blind dates and Tinder conversations, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Throw a singles party: Crowded singles events can be uncomfortable and overwhelming. Instead, throw a party and ask all your invitees to bring one single friend. Do something you enjoy—like a karaoke night or a cocktail party—to take the pressure off finding a potential partner.

Related Link: Celebrity Parents: Former ‘Bachelor’ Arie Luyendyk Jr. Calls Wife Lauren the ‘Hottest Momma’

2. Dress outside your comfort zone: You may be passing by people every day that might want to talk to you. There’s no better excuse for them to speak up when you dress in a way that stands out in a crowd. Dye your hair a fun color or dress in a unique style. Whatever you’re comfortable with that draws attention!

3. Slide into someone's DMs (nicely!): Take advantage of people you're already connected with on social media. Keep your eyes peeled for posts that show what the person cares about. Try starting a conversation based on something you know you have in common. Don't send them a generic "hey" if you want to get an actual conversation going.

Cupid's Advice:

No one is expecting to get divorced on their wedding day. Even if your divorce was a long time coming, it can be hard to come to terms with the end of your marriage. If you need help getting through your divorce, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Let yourself mourn: Your marriage is over and you're supposed to be upset about it. Whether you're heartbroken over betrayal or just bummed it didn't work out, you need to let yourself feel your emotions. Let yourself be upset.

Celebrity News: Kourtney Kardashian Says She Has 'Responsibility' to Teach Kids About White Privilege

By Diana Iscenko

In the latest celebrity baby news, Kourtney Kardashian shares that she's committed to teaching her children about white privilege. In a recent Instagram post, Kardashian shares the importance of allowing "conversation without judgement" with your kids. In the wake of George Floyd's death and Black Lives Matter protests, it's easy to turn away from these conversations because they're uncomfortable. "As a mother, there is a natural instinct to protect my children from anything that might make them feel sad or unsafe," said Kardashian. However, that's not stopping the reality TV star: "I bare the responsibility to speak with my kids honestly and often about it, even when the truth is uncomfortable." Kardashian set an example for her children by donating to the NAACP and the Bail Project through her lifestyle and wellness brand Poosh.

In celebrity news, Kourtney

Kardashian is speaking out about teaching her kids about racism and white privilege. What are ways to come to terms with your partner on which values to instill in your children?

Cupid's Advice:

As much as we love our partners, we won't always see eye to eye. This becomes especially challenging when it comes to raising your children. If you need help deciding what values to teach your kids, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Decide what's important: Have a conversation with your partner. Decide what values are non-negotiable and what's most important to actively teach your kids. Remember that your kids will model their behavior after your own, so not every lesson will be verbal!

2. Delegate "teachable moments": While you should both be teaching your children values, one of you might have a stronger connection to a particular issue. If your partner has a personal experience that makes them passionate about a subject, you might want to take the backseat for those conversations.

3. Adapt your views: As your child (and you and your partner!) ages, what's most important to teach them will change. Outside forces, like experiences at school and current events, might require you and your partner to have discussions you hadn't planned on before. Flexibility is important to best teach your child in a changing world.

If you're not sure how to involve your future spouse in the wedding process, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Start on the same page: Set the tone for your wedding planning process. Let your partner know that their ideas are just as valid as yours and that you want their help. Health Advice: Exercise Is a Complementary Medicine for Chronic Conditions

By Diana Iscenko

Getting exercise during quarantine is hard for everyone, but it may be the most detrimental to the 100 million American adults who struggle with chronic pain. Exercise is a common treatment to minimize chronic pain. While it's not a replacement for more traditional medicine, it can increase mobility, decrease inflammation, and minimize your overall pain.

Exercise also helps improve sleep patterns, which are often disrupted by medications commonly used to treat chronic pain. People who exercise consistently usually sleep longer and deeper than those who don't exercise.

Remember that it's important to talk to a doctor before starting a new exercise regimen. Depending on where your chronic pain bothers you, some exercises may be too difficult and will worsen your pain. Always move at your own pace, and listen to your body! Some days will be harder than others, but don't force your body to something that will hurt you.

Keeping your own body and limitations in mind, here is some health advice on four different types of exercise that you might want to try that can help minimize chronic pain:

1. Stretching exercises

Stretching once a day increases flexibility, loosens stiff muscles, and brightens your mood. If you have chronic pain, stretching can help release the tension you feel in your body. Stretching is a great exercise for those new to working out because it's low impact and can easily be done at home without equipment.

Stretching is especially helpful for those with chronic back or neck pain. To stretch your back, get on your hands and knees and start with your back flat. Stretch your abdominal muscles and raise your back to be curved. You want to let your head hang comfortably between your arms as you stretch your back. Try to keep your abdominal muscles as tight as possible while stretching your back.

To stretch your neck, start by sitting with your legs crossed. Bring your left ear to your left shoulder. Lower your head and bring your chin to your chest. Breathe deeply and roll your head so your right ear touches your right shoulder. Remember to relax your neck muscles and stop if you feel and pain.

2. Relaxation exercises

Another beginner-friendly exercise is relaxation exercises! This requires no equipment and can be done virtually anywhere you want. Relaxation exercises include deep breathing and visualization, which can be helpful to those living with chronic pain. While this may not “feel” like traditional exercise, it releases endorphins and can minimize pain.

To start, lie in a comfortable position on a bed or the floor. Relax your body and close your eyes. Focus on your breathing: inhale through your nose and exhale through your mouth. It may be helpful to place your hands on your stomach to feel yourself breathing. Visualize the pain leaving your body as you continue to focus on your breathing.

Many people use relaxation exercises before bed to help them fall asleep, but it can be done at any point during the day.

3. Strengthening exercises

While these exercises can be a little more intense, it's still easy to do strengthening exercises from the comfort of your home with little-to-no equipment. These exercises can help reduce joint pain, build muscle and prevent injuries in the future. Building core muscles is especially important for those with chronic pain because it helps with posture and balance and can prevent future injuries resulting in worsened pain.

You want to push your muscles outside their comfort zone during these exercises. Any exercise that uses resistance against your muscles will make you stronger. Sometimes that resistance is your own body weight. There's no need to overextend yourself.

Strength exercises do not need weights. There are plenty of exercises that build strength—such as squats, push-ups, lunges, planks and jumping jacks—that don't require any equipment and don't feel as intimidating. Remember to do several repetitions of each to build up your strength!

4. Cardio exercises

Cardio exercises are great because there's something for everyone! These exercises include walking, running and swimming. Cardio helps heart health and builds endurance. It also releases endorphins, which will help decrease your chronic pain.

If you have access to a gym, you can use the treadmill or elliptical machines to work on your cardio. If not, you can go on walks or runs. Don't worry about how long you can exercise. Practice makes perfect and the more often you do cardio exercises, the more endurance you'll build up. If you use mobility aids, be sure to take it with you on your walks.

If you find walking or running too difficult, swimming is a great alternative. It's a great cardio exercise while being extremely low impact. Swimming keeps your body moving without putting pressure on your muscles and joints. It's also therapeutic and can help you clear your mind.

Cupid's Advice:

We all want our kids to grow up to be good people but toeing the line of informative and lecturing can be difficult. If you're not sure where to start, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Be a good role model: You need to set a good example for your children. No matter what you teach them, it will be undone if they see you acting differently from what you've taught them. Don't undermine yourself! Apologize to your kids when you mess up. Share your experiences with them so they can understand why the values you teach them are so important.

2. Relate the issue to their life: Relating a value back to your child's life will make it easier for them to understand it and why it's important. You can use anything to teach them—an issue at school, an event you witness at the store, or even an incident on the news. These make great spontaneous lessons. Ask your kids what they would've done.

3. Follow through: Let your kids know when you're proud of their behavior! Thank them when they do something you asked. Acknowledge when they make you proud. However, you also need
