Cupid's Advice:

There is no telling how you're going to react when faced with a surprise pregnancy. That being said, you both have to be there for each other as you recover from being shocked. If you're looking for ways to support your partner through a surprise pregnancy, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Respond positively: When a woman experiencing challenging circumstances confides she is pregnant, the reaction of the first person she tells tends to set the tone for her decision-making. Avoid responding with shock or alarm, and be calm and understanding. Let her know you're there for her and that it's going to be okay. Pay close attention to her emotional state, and act accordingly.

2. Set up a support system: In addition to the standard baby registry, you can help her get other kinds of support by lining up much-needed, practical help. Think outside the box. Take advantage of websites that allow friends and family to sign up to make meals, send food deliveries, or simply donate money. Some websites can even help organize other assistance like rides to the doctor, babysitting other children she may have, or help around the house.

3. Encourage her: Society tends to focus on ways that an unexpected pregnancy can be challenging. Help your partner to think of the benefits. Remind her of the fluttering kicks, somersaults, and maybe even dance moves her son or daughter will be rocking once they grow a little more. With moms' groups and opportunities for play dates, there's a whole new social world to explore.
