

Dating Advice: How to Keep Humor In Your Relationship

By Dr. Jane Greer

During these difficult times, because of the pandemic and everything that has come with it, it is important for people to make room for laughter. There is no question that it is challenging to find the funny among all the hardship. It can be a struggle to balance the bad with the good. But it is a long-held belief that humor is an important elixir that helps to soothe the pain and even heal. Professor of Surgery Henri de Mondeville famously said in the 1300s that laughter, compiled with the treatments he recommended, would help toward recovery. That eventually translated into the saying we all know today: laughter is the best medicine. Norman Cousins is known for having cured himself of a terrible disease by chuckling through all the Marx Brothers' movies. Recently even Blake Shelton and Gwen Stefani poked fun at the way they found each other during a Super Bowl commercial for T-Mobile.

So how can you find a way to incorporate humor into your relationship and your daily life to take the sting out of all the stressors you are experiencing?

Believe it or not, the first thing to do is to give yourself permission to laugh despite what is going on in the country and the world. Some people think they have to be serious because of all the suffering taking place, and may even feel guilty for being lighthearted. But the shows we find the funniest and the comedians we embrace are the ones in which they illustrate how to laugh at ourselves and each other. They have learned through their own hardships and demonstrate to the rest of us the value of humor, even if it is self-deprecating, to cope with the negatives – our own and those in our relationships. We look to them for comic relief, and can actually model our behavior after them to use poking at ourselves and our loved ones as a way to ease tension and release anger. And while you wouldn't expect doctors and nurses in a hospital setting to be making jokes, it is something that goes on regularly to manage the intensity of working with ill and dying patients. In fact, someone I know who was going through his own illness with a brain tumor wrote a book called, "You Have To Keep Your Sense Of Tumor," which helped him survive for many years. Nurturing your sense of humor can actually become your emotional health insurance.

The next thing to do is take inventory of all the things that are irritating you in your life and prioritize them so you can gain some perspective. If you look at each one specifically, it gives you the opportunity to focus on what is aggravating you the most and needs to be addressed first. This way, instead of being equally upset about all of them, you can determine what is going on that demands your immediate attention in order to manage it more effectively. Once you have honed in on what it is, look for any way to make it amusing or silly so that when it continues to happen it loses some of its steam.

If you are in a relationship, however, your private jokes can give you mileage if you use them as morse code to short circuit an impending argument. Rather than blaming or criticizing your partner, if you can find a gentler way to tease them about the problem at hand it can increase your chances of their being willing to compromise. Laughter is also a great release for anxiety, and a place it can be really helpful is in the bedroom. That is where people can feel pressure to please their partner, and also themselves. Embracing humor is a great way to relax and dissipate some of that expectation so you are able to enjoy yourselves.

It is clear that Blake and Gwen have a lot of playfulness between them. That is one of the things that is so appealing about watching them interact, and it appears to have contributed to their strong foundation. You can do the same and increase your personal happiness by learning to laugh off what you can, and by following the adage angels fly because they take themselves lightly.

If you're having a hard time coming up with new ideas to do with your children right now, don't worry! 2. Tie-Dye: Tie-dying can be a quick way to freshen up the activities you do with your children. If you're tired of being cooped up in the house, this gives you the perfect opportunity to get outside. The supplies can easily be bought at the store or online, and you can get to work on creating some cool patterns. Not only will this give them an opportunity to engage with art, but they'll even have a fun shirt to rock afterward!

3. Create an original story: A great thing to try with kids is to have them create their own story. You can buy blank storybooks off the internet easily, and then your kids can begin filling them in! Celebrity Couple News: Gwen Stefani & Blake Shelton Attend Wedding Together

By Rhodesia Williams

In celebrity news, celebrity couple Gwen Stefani and Blake Shelton attended a wedding together this past weekend. According to UsMagazine.com, although Shelton, 41, was already a part of the wedding, Stefani was nowhere near left out. She posted a video of the bridal party dancing to her song, "Hollaback Girl," on her Instagram. When on the Ellen show, Stefani, 48, said she always thinks about marrying Shelton. This celebrity relationship has been going strong since 2015. I guess we all want to know when this celebrity dating will turn into a wedding? Stay tuned!

This celebrity couple is just like us – attending weddings and dancing together. What are some ways attending a wedding can bring you closer as a couple?

Cupid's Advice:

Date nights are great, but attending special events like weddings helps you figure out just where your relationship is going. Cupid has some advice on how attending weddings can bring you closer as a couple:

1. Presentation: Weddings aren't like attending the annual 4th of July family BBQ. This event is family and friends seeing the two of you dressed to impress. People will see you as a real couple; your parents or even Nana may even ask, "So, when are you two tying the knot." When you get all dressed up, it just gives others another view of you and your partner. Embrace it! While it can be embarrassing at the moment, they just want the two of you to have your own special day like this one... until they get the bill that is.

2. The talk: There you are, sitting at the table watching the bride and groom dance their first dance. Right there in that moment you will think, "that will be us one day." Eventually, you and your partner will have "the talk." Weddings help you to see yourselves as the ones getting married, even though it is not your wedding. Talking about marriage is important because ultimately, that is why you date someone; to grow and build a future. While you shouldn't force the issue, a light discussion to see where your partner's head is at when it comes to marriage is a good idea.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Blake Shelton Says It's 'So Fun' Having Gwen Stefani's Kids Around

3. Fun: While it is natural to consider your own wedding, this is the time to still have fun. While you might take mental notes and may secretly be planning your own wedding in your head, remember to actually enjoy the wedding. When its time to dance, have fun. You and your significant other are dressed up and looking good. Dance the night away. Take pictures, participate in the dance contests, and you know there is always that one drunk person(s). There is plenty of time to plan your day, today isn't the day. Have fun!

Celebrity couple Gwen Stefani and Blake Shelton took a birthday trip that will give you date night envy for a lifetime. According to UsMagazine.com, to celebrate Shelton turning 40, Stefani decorated a private jet that took the couple to Shelton's farm in Oklahoma. This celebrity couple is finding new and exciting things to do together. What are some adventurous date ideas to plan for your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Though most of us won't be riding a private jet for a birthday trip anytime soon, there are still many ways to keep things exciting. Date night doesn't have to be dinner and a movie. Cupid is here to help you think outside the box for your next date night:

1. Something you'd never do: If you're like most couples, there is probably something your partner loves to do that you really don't care for. Whether it's horseback riding, sports, or shopping, plan a day of that activity. Your partner will be impressed that you went out of your way and out of your comfort zone, to do something they really love.

2. Adventures close to home: Wherever you live, especially if it's in the U.S., there is a good chance that there is a park near to where you live that you've never visited. State parks in the U.S. range from beach to mountain depending on where you live, and they normally don't cost more than ten dollars. Find a place close to home that you've never been to and make a date. And, if the outdoors isn't your thing, search for an indoor rock climbing facility or even take a dance class. The definition of adventure will vary by couple.
