start of a new celebrity relationship. Sources for UsMagazine.com state that Panettiere and Brian's brother are not a celebrity couple or romantically involved in any way, and in fact, "they have been friends for as long as she's been dating Brian; Zach and Brian are close."

In celebrity news, we're wondering if Hayden and Brian's brother are involved as more than friends. What are some ways to keep gossip from affecting your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Many celebrity parents have found a way to put their children first after a break-up and are able to successfully co-parent.

As long as you find that the child is the center of the relationship, you will be able to successfully parent your child with your ex, too:

1. Put the child first: Like Hayden Panettiere, you must always think about your child first rather than your own feelings. Wladimir Klitschko and Hayden Panettiere Prepare Relationship For Kid

By Laura Seaman

Hayden Panettiere is pregnant! Panettiere and fiancé Wladimir Klitschko are expecting their first child, a source tells UsMagazine.com. The couple has been engaged for a year, and have been dating on and off since 2009. "I've lived a very big life, and I don't feel my age, and I feel like I was born to be a mother," said Panettiere. "Motherhood is the most beautiful, exciting thing, and there's nothing that I feel like I can't accomplish while having children in my life."

How does your relationship change when you have a child?

Cupid's Advice:

Having a kid is a huge step in any relationship. You and your partner are going from being a couple to being parents. You're responsible for another life, and that baby won't be a baby forever. It's a lifetime responsibility, and you have to be prepared for the changes that come with it:

1. There's less alone time and more family time. When you have a child, you need to know where they are and what they're doing 24/7. With such a demanding new role, it's no wonder that you and your partner will have less time alone with each other. Learn to take advantage of your time together and make the most of family time.

2. Work should take a back seat for a while. As committed as you are to your job, but have to be even more committed to your family. You can't expect one person to do all the work, so even if you're the breadwinner for your family, you need to make sure you do your part and spend time with your new baby.

3. Watch your health and habits. There's a chance that some of your previous habits weren't child friendly. For example, smoking in the house or around the baby is a big no-no. Maybe you're a bit of a slob, and you leave things around the house. There's a chance some of those things might not be good for the baby to find. Just make sure you've prepared your life to fit the new addition to your family.

Cupid’s Advice:

Getting engaged is a big step in your relationship, and sometimes there are factors that make you keep it under wraps before announcing to all of your friends and family. Here are a few:

In certain scenarios, it is okay to rekindle the flame. With these situations, you have to be completely sure that giving a second chance is the right thing to do. It is a strong possibility that you think you should give a second chance however, in reality it's not. Cupid has some advice:

1. They've changed: If the relationship ended because your partner ended up changing from when you first began to date, they can change again. Although you may not want to believe that they've changed because of past reasons, believe it! People change! If they change for the better, why not give them a second chance? If your relationship was golden before they changed, and you want that again, test the water and go for it.

2. Soul mate: If you believe that your ex-mate is your soul mate, give another chance. Many people believe that there is "the one" out there, just waiting for you to find them. If you have any suspicion that your ex is the only love of your life, shed out a second chance. Of course there is a large chance that you might get your heartbroken again, it is worth it! We promise you, it is worth the leap. Don't you want to know if your ex is "the one?"

3. Know the risks: With giving your ex a second chance, make sure you are aware of the circumstances which come along with it. Be aware that you may bump into some obstacles and it may not work out. How do you make sure to stay friends with your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

You and your ex have managed to get through the breakup without killing each other. Also, you both don't want to lose the friendship you had before, especially since you necessarily don't hate each other. Some people are worth keeping in your life. So as not to ruin everything, here are several rules every friends-with-ex relationship must have:

1. Platonic: To remain friends, you and your ex MUST keep "the benefits" out of the friendship. That means absolutely no kissing, no flirting, no hand holding, or anything else in the intimacy department. Even on nights of drinking, you cannot go down that road...EVER.

2. Find love elsewhere: Both of you must begin to meet and date other people. Remaining friends with your ex hoping to someday reconcile is only going to cause pain to both of you. Also, leave the details of your new relationship for your girlfriends' ears only. Your ex doesn't need to know everything.

3. No relationship analysis: When either one of you decide to analyze what went wrong in the relationship, do your analyzing with someone else, such as another friend, a therapist, parents. Remember, the goal is to remain friends with your ex. Therefore, keep the topics light.

What are some ways to tell if your relationship is a rebound romance?

Cupid's Advice:

Jumping into a new romance right after ending a long-term relationship can be considered a rebound. Cupid has some questions you may want to ask yourself:

1. How much time has passed?: If you just broke up with someone and are already seeing someone new, you're probably in a rebound relationship. It's important to realize that these flings usually aren't permanent.

2. Do you still have feelings for your ex?: So you've started dating a new person, but everything they do reminds you of your ex. If this is the case, you might consider taking some time alone to heal and move past the breakup.

3. Is the new romance serious?: After ending a serious relationship, it's usually difficult to feel strongly for someone new right away. So if you find that your feelings aren't nearly as intense for your new partner, maybe you're still on the rebound.
