

Johnny Weir's Estranged Husband Blames 'Meddling' Mother-in-Law

By Sanetra Richards

If it is not one thing, it is definitely another for Johnny Weir and Victor Voronov. According to UsMagazine.com, there is no reconciling happening between the estranged couple: "The divorce is 100 percent still happening," says Weir to Us, "Johnny's meddling mother [Pamela] was definitely the source of the breakdown of our marriage." A source close to the couple also added that the famed figure skater is indeed "heartbroken" from the separation and wants to "live his life" and continue forth. "Victor is doing okay," the insider went onto say. "Victor and Johnny spoke two days ago. When this first started, Victor didn't think it was really over. Victor was duped, and now he feels like an idiot."

What do you do if your partner's parent is interfering in your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Having your partner's parent constantly making their way into your relationship is nothing short of a headache. Whether your significant other realizes it or not, this interference is just a set up for trouble and possible failure. Do not fret, Cupid has some tips to help if you are in this situation:

1. Talk with your partner: The first thing you want to do is let your love know you are uncomfortable with their parent being a part of your relationship. There is a possibility your partner will be a bit defensive because it is their parent, but as long as you express your genuine concern, their guard will ease down and they will begin to understand what you are saying. Maybe suggest they speak with their parent as well.

2. Inform the parent: Invite the interferer over or spend some one-on-one time with them. Start off with a soft conversation. Why is this? Well, if you jump right into telling them they need to quit butting into your relationship, they will without a doubt be offended. Once things are comfortable between the two of you, then it is acceptable to break the good/bad news. Of course they will pretend to be unaware of their actions, but thoroughly explain their behavior (with examples).

3. Issue boundaries: If there are no limits set up, the interference will only continue and worsen. Let your partner and their parent know that there are going to be some changes made between all of you. Your partner must stop telling his or her parent everything that happens between the two of you. Their parent must stop feeling entitled to know every detail and want to be involved all of the time.

Johnny Weir and Ex Victor Voronov Fight Over Family Dog

By Louisa Gonzales

Johnny Weir and soon-to-be ex-husband Victor Voronov recently settled their custody battle over their family dog. According to TMZ, during their divorce proceedings, Voronov filed papers to request that their dog TÃ«ma be returned to him. The Olympic figure skater believed that the dog rightfully belongs with him because he was allegedly a “make-up gift.” He says he was also the one who trained and took care of the dog. For now, they have agreed to joint custody. Additionally, Voronov is seeking financial support from Weir because, according to his attorney, he gave up everything to be with him, including his career.

How do you compromise during a breakup when you're upset?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes, without warning, relationships fizzle out, and no matter what, it's never easy. Cupid has some advice on how you can make compromises during a breakup, even when you're upset.

1. Be reasonable: Keep in mind that you're both going through the split, so you're both experiencing a rough and difficult time. Clear your head and try to keep calm before you start dividing up your shared assets. It's best to go into a difficult situation with a sensible mind because it will make things run more smoothly and help make the breakup easier.

2. Ask yourself what's really best for you: As you make major decisions, ask yourself what you really want. If you're only doing certain things because you want to hurt your ex, know that it'll only make you feel better temporarily. In the long run, remember what is truly important to you. Do you want to move on and find happiness with someone new or continue arguing over the past?

3. Be fair: The only way to get through the end of your relationship as smoothly as possible and without any pointless fight is to be fair. You both know it's over, so why make things more difficult for by being unreasonable? Really think about who deserves to get what. Don't be that person who plays dirty or fights unfairly.

By Sanetra Richards

The Sochi Olympian Jonny Weir and lawyer husband Victor Voronov are splitting after two+ years of marriage. According to UsMagazine.com, the fashionable figure skater announced the separation on March 19 through Twitter saying, “It is with great sadness that I announce that my husband and I are no longer together,” he tweeted. “My heart hurts, and I wish him well.” In a February 2014 interview with Access Hollywood, Weir talked about his husband and their married life: “My husband was actually in the closet until about a month before we were married. He comes from a very strict and judgmental world.” Weir went on to say, “Being married is an adjustment, and I’m such an OCD, solitary, confined person that it was very hard to open my life and my home and in some ways my closet to somebody else,” he continued. “We both are constantly fighting to wear the pants in the relationship.”

How do you know when to put an end to your marriage?

Cupid’s Advice:

Every marriage is not salvageable, and sometimes you have to find the guts to tell your spouse “it is over.” Nevertheless, whether you ignore it or give it some thought, there will always be a warning before destruction. So, how will you know your marriage is about to fall off of the cliff? Cupid has the answer:

1. More distance than ever: This can range from sleeping in separate bedrooms to not doing mutual activities. If this is occurring in your marriage, be cautious. You have probably been noticing all of your time is consumed by work and all of his/her is spent with friends – chances are you are trying to stay away from your spouse as much as possible. This sign is as clear as daylight, the marriage is deteriorating.

2. Nonstop bickering: Every conversation is beginning to end with an argument and you all cannot agree on the simplest things, like what to eat for dinner or who is taking the kids to soccer practice. All of this could very well be stemming from other issues that have not been discussed. If you cannot compromise on wants and needs (after multiple attempts) without being on the verge of ripping each other's heads off, it may be time to call it quits.

3. One-sided effort: You have realized there is no such thing as give and take in your marriage and that your spouse is more of a take and take kind of person – do not ignore this. As a team, work should be put in on both ends. Think about that the next time you feel like you are the only one in the marriage.
