Whether you don’t want to attract too much attention or get a rush from adding the element of surprise – a secret wedding can be the right choice for you. Cupid has some relationship advice:

1. No one knows: A major benefit of throwing a surprise wedding is that no one will know, and nobody has to find out if you don’t want them too. You are completely in control. You don’t have to worry about paparazzi or unwanted party crashers. You don’t have to worry about people being offended for not getting an invite or stressing over which entrée guests should choose from. It takes away the aspect of stressing over every little detail. In the end, it’s all about the bride and groom to be, because that’s all that matters.

2. More intimate: Often, if you are throwing a surprise wedding it is going to be more intimate and romantic. That is the most important component of a wedding. Focus on making your wedding special and a true celebration of love. It's not about getting everybody else's opinions, all that matters is what you want as a newlywed couple. It's your big day, not everyone else's. You have the freedom to make it perfect for you and your spouse!

3. Love is the focus: When it all comes down to it, a wedding is not about the cake or the flowers or the dress. What it truly is about is love and two people making a commitment to spend the rest of their lives together. That is what really matters. When you are doing a surprise wedding, love is at the center of attention – just as it should always be whether you throw a surprise wedding or not.

Jennifer Aniston's Celebrity Engagement: How Long is Too Long?

By Dr. Jane Greer

Actors Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux celebrated their celebrity engagement in August of 2012, and their wedding has been much-anticipated by their many fans. However, reports last week revealed the two have been fighting and are now living separately. Justin has asked Jennifer to be patient, but being no closer to a celebrity wedding date after being engaged for over two years “makes her feel like a fool.” Couple that with the fact that they both have incredibly busy schedules, and it’s no surprise that they are having a hard time scheduling their wedding.

The fact that this celebrity couple has been planning to get married for over two years raises the question, how long is too long? Is there a shelf life to an engagement?

What's holding you back?

That may depend on whether the issues getting in the way are practical ones or emotional ones, and if the couple will be able to give themselves time to work through and get past them. Consider first what is holding you back from setting a date and walking down the aisle. If you both have full-time jobs, for example, or are celebrities like Jennifer and Justin, the demands of the office and of upcoming projects might make it very difficult to plan a wedding.

Where will you live?

On top of that, there's the expectation that once you are married you will share a home base. If you are living in separate parts of the country or world, or have a work assignment far away from where your partner spends most of his or her time, deciding where to call home might not come so easily. Sometimes that requires one person to compromise and make a choice that could end up feeling like a sacrifice he or she isn't ready to make. So whether it is a work commitment, or even an illness in the family that is time-consuming, and thereby keeping you from saying, "I do," you might find yourself in a perpetual state of engagement.

Are you used to your long engagement?

You may even adjust to a long engagement, and it can become what you are used to. So if it works for both of you, then there may not be any rush. Sometimes the end goal of marriage is no longer front and center, and you might not feel compelled to take the next step. You are each happily doing your thing, and haven't taken the time to figure out how to officially merge lanes. Getting married would be nice, but right now it doesn't feel necessary. If that is the case, the shelf life on an engagement can be evergreen.

Are your feelings in the right place?

If the thing that is holding you back has more to do with your feelings than with logistics, take stock of what is going on so you can better understand it and deal with it. Has one of you been married before, maybe even suffered a betrayal as was the case with Jennifer, and therefore may be feeling afraid to take the plunge for fear something similar might happen again? Or, like Justin, has one of you never been married? If that is the case there is the possibility that the fear of a change in identity and the concern over what there is to lose, such as personal freedom, is what is creating the roadblock.

Practical vs. Emotional

Layer the two together, the practical piece and the emotional piece, possibly even throwing in a financial piece, and it is no wonder some people take longer to get to the altar. If one of you is pushing to do it sooner than the other, things might get complicated. But if you are both willing to wait it out, and you are able to work through some or all of these issues, then there is really no downside to waiting. The bottom line is, there is no clear expiration date on an engagement unless you plan to call off the relationship itself. As long as you are on the same team, and are aware of what is keeping you from taking the plunge, you could stay engaged for years or even decades.

Only time will tell if Jennifer and Justin fall into the category of both being okay with the long engagement, or if they will start to move apart in terms of what they each wish for. Hopefully, though, they will be able to move forward in their joint life together, proving their commitment to each other is enduring whether they are married or not.

Jennifer Aniston Says Justin Theroux Gave Her “A Rock”

By Sarah Batcheller

A celebrity engagement is everyone's favorite vicarious event. Taking a look at UsMagazine.com, you can get a close-up of the enormous engagement ring that Jennifer Aniston is sporting.

According to the latest celebrity gossip, the actress says of the impeccable rock that her fiancé and Wanderlust costar Justin Theroux gave to her, “He rocked it up...It took me a while to get used to it. I’m not a diamond girl. I’m more Indian jewelry and stuff.” The celebrity couple has been together since 2012.

Whether or not you’re inspired by a celebrity engagement, how can you find out what type of ring your partner wants?

Cupid’s Advice:

Asking too many questions will give away the big surprise, so here’s Cupid’s advice on how to stealthily pick out a diamond worthy of a celebrity engagement:

1. Log in: You say: “Hey babe, I’m going to use your laptop to check my e-mail really quick!” What you mean is: “Hey babe, I’m going to open up your Pinterest account because I know that you’ve been pinning images of vintage-style diamond rings that appeal to you!”

2. Listen to their style opinions: If you’re a guy, it’s hard to listen to everything your partner says about fashion, but if you do, you can use these comments as clues as to what kind of rock they would like. Is your significant other’s style more classic than trendy? She may want a round diamond. Is she super girly? Perhaps something extra sparkly will catch her eye.

What are three factors to consider before getting engaged?

Cupid's Advice:

"Here comes the bride..." Not yet! You have wedding bells on your mind, but are not quite sure if it is the right time. After all, timing is truly everything. You and your partner have discussed taking the relationship further. Unfortunately, hesitation gets the best of both of you for various reasons. Cupid has some things to think about before agreeing to become one:

1. Compatibility: Can you see yourself with this person until the end of time? The attraction should be apparent and undeniable. After all, if you do indeed say "yes" or your partner does, you are planning to spend every day with them through the good and the bad. If you cannot envision yourself with anyone else, and they are your soul mate . . . it may be time for that life changing step.

2. Finances (of course): Not to say it all revolves around money, but it is a key factor to consider before making marriage plans. The two of you should keep in mind your financial stability. Avoid depending on each other for that security. Marriage comes with expenses.

3: Family: Be sure to talk with your significant other about building a family and the connection each of you have with each others' families. Do you want kids? If so, what size family do you see yourself having? Are you in good with the future in-laws and other relatives? These are just a few points to hit while having this conversation.

What are some ways to compromise on family traditions with your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

Love is about making sacrifices and learning how to make compromises. Love is never easy and no matter whom your partner is, there is going to be differences in opinions, especially if you grew up with different values and ideals. Cupid has some advice on some ways to compromise on family traditions with your partner:

1. Take turns: It's nice to be able to share and experience your family traditions with your partner, but remember your partner has their own also. In a relationship you have to be willing to make compromises and one way to do that is by alternating. Take turns doing each other's traditions, who knows it good bring you closer and you may be able to start your own family traditions together.

2. Focus on what's important: Ask yourself what's more important to you, the issues with your traditions or the person you are trying to build your life with and essentially trying to bring into your family. Think about what traditions are truly important to you as opposed to the ones you do because of familiarity. If you are not willing to or are unable to make compromises with your sweetheart you may have to reanalyze your relationship.

3. Combine your traditions: Say you both have your own traditions you do on holidays or special occasions, why not combine them? You can create new traditions this way as well as continue to follow your old ones, besides every couple creates their own new traditions along the way. Being with someone means sharing and doing important things that matter to you together, but also finding ways to make things work in a fair way.

When you're in a long-term relationship, keeping things fresh and exciting can prove to be a little difficult. A passionate, intense romance is difficult to maintain, but if you put in the work, you'll be able to keep that special spark alive. Cupid has some tips:

1. Do things together: Forget about staying home all the time. Go out for a date every now and then. Take your partner out for dinner, or go see a movie together. If you rather plan your activities during the day, try a picnic lunch or something both of you would enjoy doing together.

The excitement of doing something different will bring the two of you closer.

Jennifer Aniston Throws Bday Bash for Justin Theroux

By April Littleton

According to UsMagazine.com, Jennifer Aniston held a fantastic 42nd birthday bash for fiancé, Justin Theroux at their $21 million Bel Air home Saturday, August 10. "Several of Justin's friends spent the afternoon at the house hanging out by the pool with him and celebrating his birthday," an eyewitness said. The celebration fell on the one-year anniversary of the couple's engagement.

What are three ways to make your partner's birthday special?

Cupid's Advice:

Your honey's birthday is coming up and you want to go above and beyond for him/her this year. How can you make this special day extraordinary and unforgettable for your love? You don't necessarily have to spend more money, but showing him/her that you know them inside and out will make their day just a little more amazing. Cupid is here to help:

1. Get in the kitchen: Does your partner love a homemade pizza? Maybe they prefer stuffed chicken breasts with roasted potatoes? Surprise your boo with their favorite meal. You might not be the best cook, but it's the thought that counts. Cooking for your significant other shows you care, especially if you don't do it very often.

2. Vacation time: What better way to celebrate your partner's birthday than with a romantic getaway? Spend the weekend in the countryside or take a trip to the Bahamas. You'll get to spend some extra time alone with your honey, while participating in some fun activities that you wouldn't get to do at home.

3. Let them choose: If you're really low on ideas, let your significant other choose what he/she gets to do on their special day. Maybe they've always wanted to go skydiving and they've never gotten the chance to. Let their imagination run wild and be supportive of whatever ideas they come up with.

Jennifer Aniston Says She and Justin Theroux 'Already Feel Married'

By Kristyn Schwiep

Jennifer Aniston seems to be in no rush to tie the knot with fiancé Justin Theroux. According to UsMagazine.com, Aniston already feels married to Theroux. "We just want to do it when it's perfect, and we're not rushed, and no one is rushing from a job or rushing to a job," Aniston told The Associated Press. After the couple had been dating for a year and a half, Theroux popped the question on his 41st birthday last August.

She told The AP, "We have yet to set any dates."

What are three things that change when you tie the knot?

Cupid's Advice:

What really changes when you get married? Money? Sex? Commitment? Cupid has some advice for you to show you what can change when you tie the knot:

1. Money: Figuring out how to manage your money when getting married can cause a lot of stress on a new relationship. Merging accounts, debating who spends what, and revealing your credit history can send you into a whirlwind, but though this might be a hard change it can also bring you closer to your partner. Then again, working it all out? Surprisingly intimate.

2. Sense of commitment: When you are married, commitment is something strong and real. Having a solid foundation gives you the strength and courage to face challenges you might not have alone. Commitment is no going back.

3. Family and friends: Getting married can sometimes put a strain on your relationship with your friends, but it can also bring you closer to your new relatives that you can call your own. Having a new family can be a pretty big change, but it is also something special that you get to share with your spouse. Also, try to remember your friends after you get married and try to go out with them once a week to keep your friendships strong.

Celebrity Couple Predictions: Jennifer Aniston, Julianne Hough and Kim Kardashian

By Shoshi

For today's expert post, I want to look at the energy of three celebrity couples who have been plagued by rumors this summer: Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux, recently-split Julianne Hough and Ryan Seacrest and new parents Kim Kardashian and Kanye West.

Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux: It's no surprise that these two lovebirds postponed their wedding – I think even Stevie Wonder could've seen this one coming. There's definitely some conflicting energy around this relationship. Let's dissect it, shall we? The top reason for the wedding being postponed is that Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie are getting hitched this summer too, and Jennifer Aniston doesn't want her wedding close to the same time. Can you blame her?

The other rumor is that she and Justin Theroux are just too busy to get married. Now, I can't help but question this excuse. When people are ready to spend the rest of their lives together, the last thing they'll let stand in the way is their hectic schedules. After all, it's not like the two of them can't afford to take some time off.

When I look at Theroux's energy, it reveals that he isn't the marrying type. He can feel committed to someone without a ceremony. There's nothing wrong with that perspective as long as Aniston is fine with it.

He also feels like he doesn't have any control in the relationship. For instance, after planning to live in New York, Aniston said it felt like a fishbowl and moved the couple back to Los Angeles. Even so, Theroux has been spotted checking out places to live in downtown New York. Aniston has taken Theroux out of the playground where he feels most like himself, which tends to be a big damper on a relationship, especially for men. If Aniston doesn't allow Theroux to feel comfortable, he'll seek that feeling from someone else. Their love can go either way at this point!

Julianne Hough and Ryan Seacrest: Since this adorable couple broke up in March, everybody is on Ryan Seacrest-dating watch. Who will he date next? And will he get back together with Julianne Hough? The spirits say no; he's ready to move on.

Hough, on the other hand, is trying to win the television host back – she has her eye on being Mrs. Seacrest. Unfortunately, it's so not going to happen. Seacrest definitely cares about her, but she's just not the kind of partner he wants/needs as he builds his empire. It also doesn't look good that Hough has been partying like a college girl in recent months. She's screaming for attention from her ex, but instead, she just needs to look for love elsewhere.

Kim Kardashian and Kanye West: Little North West arrived five weeks early, much to the delight of her parents, Kim Kardashian and Kanye West. After the baby's name was announced, people immediately started saying that this famous pair were already bad parents.

Looking at their energy, I think West is going to be a pretty good dad. As for Kardashian, she'll have a bumpy time at first because the baby girl will feel more comfortable with her dad. The reality star will try a little too hard to be a "good mother," which will ultimately hurt her parenting skills. Plus, North will be the number one priority for West, leaving Kardashian a bit jealous. While West and Kardashian love the spotlight, the rapper will have a better grasp on why it's important for their bundle of joy to not be a part of the entertainment business until she's a bit older. When the time is right, though, North West will be a mini-mogul following in the footsteps of her parents. Mark my words!

Rumor: Is Jennifer Aniston's

Wedding On Hold?

By April Littleton

Rumor has it that Jennifer Aniston has put a halt to her wedding plans – at least for now. Justin Theroux and the former Friends actress have decided to slow down on their plans to walk down the aisle to focus on their separate careers. Both actors have signed up for upcoming movie projects. A source who knows the couple professionally told People, “There are other priorities (besides marriage).” Another insider said, “They need to figure out a way to create a life that makes them both happy. Still, Jen can’t wait to be (Justin’s) wife.”

What are some reasons to delay your wedding?

Cupid's Advice:

Postponing a wedding is never an easy decision, but it might just be the best thing for you and your partner to do. Unforeseen events can happen that will make continuing on with wedding plans almost impossible, but this shouldn't be a discouragement from the idea of marriage altogether. Cupid has some advice:

1. The stress: Sometimes the stress of planning a wedding can be overwhelming for a bride, especially if you're doing it without much help. When this happens, it's OK to take a break and get the focus back on the actual relationship, or maybe call in some reinforcements to help with the planning. Just because the wedding is postponed doesn't mean you won't get the chance to marry your significant other. It just means the wedding won't happen when you originally planned it.

2. Careers: In some situations, weddings will need to be put on hold because of the careers of the bride, the groom or both. You or your partner might get that promotion you've always dreamed of and may need to relocate to a new city. If this happens, you and your partner will need to decide on a new place of residence. Until you get all of that settled, you won't have much time to think about marriage.

3. Unexpected death: One of the most common reasons many couples delay their wedding is because of a sudden death of a family member or friend. It wouldn't feel right to hold a wedding when so many people around you are in mourning. If you have to deal with an unfortunate situation like this, it would be wise to push back the wedding until after the grieving period has passed.

What are some ways to make a wedding the perfect date?

Cupid's Advice:

Wedding can be the perfect place to get to know a significant other a little better. The love surrounding the atmosphere and the all around positive vibes are contagious. You would be crazy not to want to share such a lovely experience with your partner. However, there are some do's and don'ts when it comes to taking a date to such a sacred ceremony. Cupid has some tips:

1. Help your date fit in: Don't just leave your date standing out in the cold. Show off your significant other. Introduce him or her to some of your friends and see how they get along. It's more than likely that your date will only know you at this event. So, it's up to you to make your lover feel as comfortable and as entertained as possible.

2. Sneak in some alone time: Take advantage of the romantic scenery and slip away with your date somewhere. If the location of the wedding happens to be outdoors, find a secluded spot and have a conversation. Ask your partner how they feel about the wedding so far. If you envision things going further between the two of you, it may even be a good idea to discuss the future of your own relationship.

3. Don't flirt: Most guests see a wedding as the perfect opportunity to flirt with other people and find their next potential boo. If you're serious about the person you're investing your time with, don't give anyone else the type of attention your partner deserves from you. You shouldn't engage in any flirtatious banter with anyone else but your date, especially if you want to continue seeing them after the wedding.

Celebrity Couple Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux Push Back Wedding Because of Celebrity Ex Brad Pitt

By Meghan Fitzgerald

Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux's celebrity wedding plans are slightly delayed due to her celebrity ex Brad Pitt and his current fiancé Angelina Jolie. UsMagazine reports that famous couple "Brangelina" are planning upcoming nuptials, and Aniston didn't want her own wedding to conflict with theirs. According to NY Daily News, “She does not want her day associated with them.” The Hollywood couple considered moving the date up, but Theroux didn’t want to rush it.

Aniston postponed her wedding because of her celebrity ex. What are some ways to keep the thought of your past relationship from ruining your current one?

Cupid’s Advice:

It’s no surprise that Aniston didn’t want her big day associated with her celebrity ex! It’s important that an ex doesn’t interfere with your current relationship, especially when it comes to your wedding. Cupid has some relationship advice on how to forget the past so that you can have a better future:

1. No communication: The simplest solution from keeping your ex from ruining your current relationship and love is ending all forms of communications with them. It isn’t always easy, but it is possible. Work through the urge to call, text, or message them. By not allowing any opportunities for them to enter your life, it makes it more difficult for them to have a negative effect on your current relationship.

2. Stay busy: If you want your ex to stay out of your head, keep yourself busy. Go out to eat with old friends; take up yoga; learn a language; or plan a picnic for you and your partner. Do everything and anything you can to keep your mind away from unwanted thoughts of your past relationships.

3. Be happy: You are currently in a new relationship, so you shouldn't be thinking about your ex. Those kind of thoughts will most likely result in negative feelings and repressed emotions. Try to focus on why your ex is an ex and think about how happy you are to have found another partner.

How Can Celebrity Couple Jennifer Aniston Justin Theroux Make Her Love Last?

By Amy Osmond Cook, Ph.D.

Can it be true? It appears that Hollywood's All-American sweetheart Jennifer Aniston has finally found lasting love with fiancé Justin Theroux. As they get ready to walk down the aisle, here are a few tips that can help them (and all of us!) build healthy relationships with our loved ones.

Create Your Own Space

Happy couples carve out their own little piece of the universe—a place where only they have the final say. They listen to their mom-in-law pontificate about the advantages of hardwood floors but choose carpet if their partner has a penchant for shag.

They enjoy each other's company but support independent hobbies. They watch Vampire Diaries together—of which separate viewing constitutes a personal betrayal—but also welcome independent golf trips and weekends at the spa. In essence, they build togetherness but foster autonomy.

Fireproof

To prevent a house from burning down, you take certain precautions. You blow out the candles before you leave the room. You don't leave the dishrag next to the gas stove. And you certainly don't let your three-year-old daughter play with matches.

Happy couples fireproof a relationship in much the same way. They create a safe place for conflict by avoiding inflammatory communication, like name-calling, stonewalling or derogation. They deal with an issue specifically and avoid making blanket statements. Pizza on the wall after Monday Night Football? Game on. But it doesn't snowball into comments like, "You don't pull your weight in this relationship." And the pizza on the wall five years ago after a bachelor party? Off-limits.

Go Organic

There's something about growing your own food that makes you appreciate nature's magic. It's exciting to see the first tendril break ground, then another and another. And when those sorry little tomato plants in chipped clay pots are weighed down with ripe, red fruit—well, that's something to celebrate, especially when you find out how much better homegrown tomatoes taste than their store-bought lookalikes.

In much the same way, happy couples know that a relationship needs constant nurturing—emotional, sexual and social—to grow. If even one of these areas is neglected, the relationship can become diseased and die. Happy couples rally when they're really too tired for sex because their partner is in the mood. They say, "You do not look fat in those jeans" for the thousandth time and still manage to sound sincere. And they laugh at the same old story that their partner has been telling at parties for years, even when everyone else groans.

So how can Jennifer and Justin make it work for the long-term? If they create a space for their relationship, fireproof it and cultivate it into something special, they have a great chance of keeping it strong and making it last.

Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux Go High-End Furniture Shopping

By Jennifer Ross

It looks like Jennifer Aniston and Justin Theroux were on a shopping trip on Monday, Oct. 29, to make their Bel Air home compliment their tastes. How do you decorate your home to reflect your relationship?

Cupid’s Advice:

Just like love, home decoration styles come in all sorts of designs with varying degrees of uniqueness. Some can be very black and white while others may prefer blending every color imaginable. Whatever you and your partner's love style is, why not have it reflected throughout your home. For tips on how to accomplish this, these following three ideas can help you get started:

1. Items you cherish: Look all around your home and gather things that are either important to one of you or both of you. Knick-knacks, heirloom items, his favorite TV chair or the floral vase you two picked up on your last vacation; anything really that makes you feel special and loved. Use these items as a starting point to find a common decoration theme.

2. Places you both love: Similar to items, take the time for you and your mate to write down the places you love. Then, under each place, write down the things about that place that you love the most. Finally, share your places with each other and together decide on elements you both can love and live with in your home.

3. Common threads: As you go through items, furnishings and images both you and your partner prefer, look for common threads in design, materials, colors or shapes. You might find that your relationship is a blend of styles rather than just one. If so, don't be afraid to mix and match to create your own unique blend representing the love you two share.
