By Megan McIntosh

According to UsMagazine.com, though it was all fun and games, Bristowe didn't hesitate to diss her ex in a word association game saying Viall's name negatively in association with "the right reasons." Though it's been years since they've dated, it's clear there's still bad blood even after all this time.

In celebrity news, these exes are clearly not on good terms after their break-up. What are some ways to keep old hurts from your exes from affecting your current life?

Cupid's Advice:

It can be hard to move on from an ex when you've broken up on bad terms. It's best not to let those old wounds reopen and keep you from living your life. It's not always easy to be friends with your ex, like Kourtney Kardashian is with Scott Disick, but it is possible to prevent that old relationship from holding you back like Khloe Kardashian after her break up with Tristan Thompson. Cupid has some tips:

1. Be comfortable moving on: Sometimes when you're afraid of being alone, you tend to hold on to toxic people. Holding on to exes who are not good for you can lead to being resentful and holding onto bitterness, like Bristowe with her ex Viall.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Demi Moore to Reflect on Ashton Kutcher & Bruce Willis Marriages In Memoir

2. Let go of any possible future together: If you're still holding onto to the idea of you and your ex being together, it stops you from building a life with someone else. It also stops you from growing as a person because you may be stuck in the past.

3. Don't talk about your ex: Don't talk about your ex-partner. Just don't. Talking about them is a sign that you're not over them. If you talk about them, you're thinking about them. If you're thinking about them, you're not moving on. Stop talking about them and you will stop thinking about them and you'll finally move on to better things.

Cupid's Advice:

It can be hard to ignore gossip and rumors when you are in a

1. Don't feed into it: The best thing you can do is to not feed into the rumors. Giving attention to this hurtful gossip will make things worst by allowing the gossip to grow and potentially spiral out of control. When someone asks if you heard it? Say yes and keep it moving. Eventually your silence will show the person who started the nasty rumor that you could care less and the rumors will stop. Silence is stronger than any other answer, remember that.

2. Actions speak louder than words: Remember, actions speak louder than words. Show your haters that you and your partner are still going strong and you are un-bothered. To avoid ridiculous questions, this is the easiest way to keep the rumors away.

3. Talk about it: Make sure you and your partner are on the same page when it comes to these rumors. Talk it out in private about what you both know. In some cases, you are so overwhelmed that you say “yes,” but when the smoke clears, you start to really think it through. Cupid has some advice on ways to know when it is the right time to get married:

1. Happiness: Are you happy? Think about your relationship from the beginning to now. Forget about wanting to get married or the pressure from others to get married. By Meranda Yslas

Monday night, The Bachelorette Kaitlyn Bristowe gave her final rose to Shawn Booth, crowning him the winner of the reality TV's 11th season. Now the Hollywood couple are talking celebrity wedding plans. As UsMagazine.com reports, Bristowe shared her thoughts about getting married in Vancouver while her celeb love joked, "Either there or Vegas with Elvis, we're still trying to figure that out." During a press conference they even added that there's a possibility of a televised wedding, much like The Bachelor couple before them Sean Lowe and Catherine Giudici.

This Bachelorette couple is looking to the future. What are some ways to compromise on wedding plans with your partner?

Cupid's Advice:

In honor of The Bachelorette wedding talk, it's important to know how to plan for your big day. Cupid has some tips on how you and your partner can work together in planning this celebration:

1. Set a budget: Before any decisions are made like the venue or DJ, set a budget that you two promise to follow. That way arguments about unnecessary expenses or over the top gowns won't come up.

2. Focus on the fun: Some wedding decisions are going to be harder to make than others and you and your partner may get in fights about it. It's important to have some other topics that you two can switch too that are easier and more fun to make, like the food you want to serve or your dance song, that will help you cool down.

3. Hear each other out: It may be easy to immediately say ‘no’ to a seemingly ridiculous idea your mate suggests, but that will only cause hurt feelings. Listen to their reasoning and acknowledge what they want, after all weddings are a celebration of a relationship between two people, not just one.

1. Have them get to know each other: You can't convince your friend that who you're dating is the right person for you if they don't get to know one another. Set up a day for the three of you to get together and be able to have them connect.

There's no lack of cruel comments coming The Bachelorette's way these days. What do you do if you're dealing with hate from outside parties about your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes people who aren't in your relationship have a lot to say about it, and it's not always nice. Cupid has some ways to deal:

You know what you believe, and that's all that matters. At the end of the day, you are the one in the relationship not everyone else and their opinions.
