who you've dated before?

Cupid's Advice:

Dating somebody you've dated before isn't always a bad idea, contrary to what you may have heard. If you are thinking of getting back together with a former fling, here are some advantages to consider:

1. No awkward small-talk: Let's face it – small talk is pointless, but a staple of any new relationship. (Do you actually care about the weather?) When you jump back into a relationship with somebody from the past, you've already gotten to know them and can skip the boring norms. You can move forward faster and get to the more serious stuff.

This celebrity news proves that Selena and Justin are still rekindling their romance. What are some ways to rebuild trust in a broken relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

It's not impossible to rebuild a broken relationship. While it may take a lot of work, if you are wanting to move on from past occurrences, Cupid has some tips you can implement into your lives:

1. Act lovingly: Within the tougher times when emotions are high, it will be more challenging to respond kindly. Even in the toughest of times, it is critical to keep love in the forefront. If your partner sets you off, instead of putting your guard up and acting defensively, take a step away from the situation. Then, think of an appropriate way to respond lovingly.

2. Follow through: Remaining consistent is very important. You must follow through on your word, and your partner must follow suit. An already rocky relationship will be impossible to mend if one person thinks they are more reliable than the other. If life gets in the way of you staying true to your word, make sure you maintain an open line of communication to show that you respect your partner.

3. Maintain patience: Trusting someone is a gradual process. It's certainly more challenging to rebuild trust after a serious situation occurs. Be patient and know that you cannot magically trust someone overnight. If the relationship is worth it, it will happen, though.

Fitness Tips: 6 Ways to Avoid Putting on Extra Holiday Pounds

y Karley Kemble

The holidays are a wonderful time of year filled with lots of reasons to celebrate. With so many parties and gatherings, it's easy to break away from healthy habits, and even easier to add numbers to your scale. While holiday weight gain is usually inevitable, you can put up a good fight. How cool would it be to say you actually lost weight after the New Year hits?

If you're worried about gaining weight during the holidays, check out these fitness tips that'll help prevent the scale from climbing. After all, Cupid doesn't believe in keeping fitness secrets.

1. Workout in the mornings: In most cases, parties are held in the afternoons or evenings, so if you're heading to an evening shindig fit in some exercise in the morning. Starting your day off with fitness really sets the whole tone for your day and will make you more conscious of the foods you put in your mouth. You also are less likely to feel guilty about treating yourself to grandma's homemade gingerbread cookies!

2. Walk after dinner: It doesn't seem likely that you'll leave early from a holiday party and head straight to the gym. There is some good news – you can still get those Fitbit steps in. Start a new family tradition and go on a good walk around the neighborhood. While it may not be the most intense cardio workout, it still counts for something. Plus, you can bond over all the houses decorated for the holidays!

Related Link: Dating Advice: How to Avoid Holiday Weight Gain!

3. Take advantage of commercial breaks: If you find yourself glued to the T.V. for all the holiday specials and every new Hallmark Christmas movie, the couch potato life can really take a toll on your weight. Utilize the 15+ minutes of repetitive ads, and turn your living room into a mini home gym. You can do a ton of exercises – crunches, pushups, jumping jacks – the list is really endless! Find what works for you and go for it. By the end of the movie or show, you'll have a decent workout in.

4. Snack beforehand: Never go to a party hungry! When the "hanger" kicks in, it's almost impossible to control yourself. Make sure you eat a little something beforehand, so you don't become ravenous. You'll be more mindful of what's going into your mouth and will significantly reduce the chances of a regrettable binge eating episode.

Related Link: Dating Advice: Don't Be Afraid to Sparkle During the Holidays–Even If You Are Single

5. Bring a healthy dish: While there is a bit of uncertainty with the menu at a party you're invited to, your host/hostess will definitely appreciate some extra help. No matter what you're asked to bring, there is always opportunity to put a healthy spin on a dish. That way, you know at least one thing is a good choice. Don't be worried about people skipping over your dish because of your modified recipe, most people can't even taste a difference.

6. Plan, plan, plan: What's great about the holidays is that you can prepare your action plan beforehand. The big holidays fall around the same time every year, so you know what to expect. Eat healthily in the days leading up to a holiday party, and fit in workouts around your busy schedule. Establish as much consistency as you can – breaking the routine is what causes you to stray and will cause weight gain.

1. Don't be defensive: When you're going through a rough divorce, a defensive guard might be your first instinct. Emotions are high, and maybe things aren't going your way. Though her friends admit the singer has certainly changed for the better, they also know how much hurt he has caused Gomez in the past. Here's to hoping they continue to go strong!

This celebrity news is definitely the talk of Hollywood at the moment. What are some things to be careful about if you're getting back together with an ex?

Cupid's Advice:

No matter what people say, getting back with an ex isn't always a bad idea. Like Gomez says – the heart wants what it wants, right? However, it is important to be cautious when you jump back into a relationship with someone. Cupid has the scoop:

1. Think about their motives: While this might be unsettling, you need to consider your ex's feelings. Are they genuinely wanting to give it another go, or are they just using you to fill a void? You don't want to get burned again, so be careful and really think this through before you jump back in.

2. Think about your feelings: Similarly, it's important to be careful that you're really interested in giving it another shot. If you just want to get back with them because you don't want to go to your bestie's wedding by yourself or are lonely in general, you should reconsider your priorities. Don't invest your time into your ex if you aren't going back into the relationship with the right intentions.

3. Beware of old habits: As they say, old habits die hard. While you might be thinking that your ex has completely changed for the better, it's important to be realistic. Cupid's Advice:

Breakups can be messy. Breakups with kids can be really messy. While Kardashian and Disick try and remain civil for the sake of their three children, it's clear they face their fair share of problems. If you're having trouble with an ex, Cupid has some tips that you can implement into your life:

1. Kick the emotions to the curb: You must keep your frustrations and all negative feelings about your ex between the two of you. It's easy to jump to conclusions and expect the worst from your ex if you ended on bad terms and continue to have drama. Your child (or children) are the most important commitment you two share, so when they're around, get along as best as you possibly can.

2. Have a clear-cut plan: Early on into your separation or divorce, it is pivotal to have a clear and defined custody agreement. Between the two of you, decide on a visitation schedule and figure out how you will celebrate holidays and their birthdays. It won't be easy by any means, but it will really help you diffuse potential conflicts from arising.

3. Leave the new boyfriend/girlfriend out: Introducing a new person into your child's life can be complicated. It is best to leave the parenting to the parents until the relationship becomes very serious. That way, you and your ex can learn how to co-parent maturely and avoid playing the blame game with each other.

John Legend and Chrissy Teigen are talking baby number two! According to EOnline.com, Teigen and Legend are hoping to have another celebrity baby very soon. Teigen has been very vocal about her struggles with infertility and their choice to have their first child, Luna, through frozen embryo transfer. In a recent magazine interview, Teigen said that the celebrity couple had 20 embryos from the start, though only three were genetically “normal.” Both Legend and Teigen have both said they definitely want to have their second child, which Teigen has confirmed will be a boy “in the near future.” We hope to hear news of a celebrity pregnancy soon!

Hopefully there will be a celebrity baby on the way for Chrissy Teigen and John Legend soon. What are some ways to support your partner through fertility issues?

Cupid's Advice:

Sometimes having a child does not always happen according to plan. If you or somebody you love is coping with infertility, Cupid has some ways to help during the difficult and emotional times:

1. Validate their feelings: A common mindset of people who struggle with fertility is to blame themselves. They have more than a right to be upset, so make sure they know it's okay to feel what they're feeling. It's also important that they know they are not alone and their infertility issues are not their fault.

Related Link: Celebrity Baby: John Legend Opens Up About Fertility Struggles with Chrissy Teigen

2. Learn: Infertility is kind of a taboo subject to talk about, so you might be in the dark about the details and latest information. Sit down at your computer and take some time to research the subject. Keeping up to date will show you care and will help you empathize with them a lot better.

3. Know what and what not to say: We often default into saying phrases that we've heard, and think are helpful (i.e. "just relax" or "you can always try another way"). In almost all cases, these words will hurt more than help. It's much more calming to ask your loved one "how are you doing" or "how can I help" because you're thinking of their feelings rather than trying to fix the problem. Most times, people just want somebody to listen to them.

It takes a lot of the stress of planning out, so you can focus on more important things (hello, like finding your dress!) Nobody will even think of calling you a bridezilla.

Beauty Advice: Mastering Liquid Eyeliner

y Karley Kemble

Whether you're a beauty beginner or a makeup master, liquid eyeliner can be super daunting. Sure, you've watched endless makeup tutorials from your favorite beauty bloggers, but you can never figure out how they make it look so...easy. One little slip of the hand has the potential to ruin your perfectly blended eye shadow! Like most things in life, applying liquid eyeliner becomes easier with trial and error. It's normal to feel overwhelmed, but what's great about liquid eyeliner is how versatile it is. Whether you enjoy a bold and dramatic look, or are more into looking classic and crisp, liquid eyeliner can give you the best of both worlds and is a beauty trend that never goes out of style!

If you're ready to up your makeup game, check out these beauty tips that'll help you master liquid eyeliner in no time!

1. Keep a steady arm: We aren't all meant to be surgeons, so it's normal to be a bit shaky when it comes to holding liquid eyeliner. If you're having trouble keeping a steady arm, try resting your arms on a table or bathroom sink. You'll find that it's a million times easier to draw a smooth line when your arm is sturdy.

2. Work in sections: A lot of the makeup pros are able to line their eyes with one fluid, sweeping motion. If that works for you, awesome! If you are still having trouble, working in small sections will give you the same effortlessly-chic look. A great technique is to dot your eyelid and connect the dots across. Starting from the center of your eyelid is also an easier beginning point, too.

3. Start with a pencil: If you love the look of liquid eyeliner, but are more comfortable with a pencil, try using both! Line your eyes with a pencil first. Then, trace over it with the liquid. That way, you have a clear path to follow and are less likely to end up with the dreaded raccoon eyes.

4. Have some helpful tools handy: Cotton swabs and Scotch tape are essential. If you feel ready to tackle the beloved cat eye, laying some Scotch tape on your outer eye provides a great guideline and allows for precision. Cotton swabs are delicate enough to gently remove any mistakes you might've made along the way.

5. When in doubt, wing it out: Perhaps the most overwhelming but classic liquid eyeliner look is the beloved cat-eye. You can create the purr-fect cat eye look by lining your entire eye. Then, working from the outer corner closest to you your bottom lash line, create a tiny triangle that bridges your top and bottom together. From there, you can build your wing outwards.

6. Relax: A great mental state is super important when tackling liquid eyeliner. Before you bring that brush to your eyelid, take a deep breath and relax. Allow yourself to make mistakes, too. Consider practicing your technique outside of your regular glam-time – that way you'll feel more confident if you're running late for date night or a big party!
