Rumors can destroy your relationship if you don't rid yourselves of them soon after they arrive. Cupid has some tips:

1. Address it: When there are rumors surrounding your relationship, it can be very frustrating. The key is to address them straight on. Whether you're in the public eye or not, saying things like "no comment" just adds fuel to the fire. You and your partner can make a statement about what is being said. On the other hand, you don't owe anybody an explanation if you don't want to give one. That being said, it's good to discuss it with your partner so you are both on the same page.

Is It Okay to Hook Up With Your Ex?

By Katie Gray

Often times in life, we are torn between our emotions and the feelings we have towards other individuals. When we breakup with someone, we are then faced with a series of questions. Are we done for good? Will we get back together eventually? Is that what I even want? Separating from someone you were once close with is hard. It's not always cut and dry, and it can be easy to get into a situation where you have to decide whether to hook up with your ex or not.

Under what circumstances is it a good idea to hook up with your ex?

Celebrity life coach Lisa Haisha weighs in, saying, "If you have a child together and you think there is hope of rekindling the old flame, then do it. Also, if you ended on bad terms, it might be a good idea to heal those wounds and have another hook-up and talk rationally with each other, it's okay to pursue things again." In other words, if there is hope for a brighter future, then give it a shot if it's what both parties involved want. If there is no hope of getting back together, don't bother because it will only lead to more hurt.

Related: Life Coach Lisa Haisha Shares Her Best Relationship Advice

Suzanne Casamento, founder of Fantasy Dating, believes that hooking up with your ex is never a good idea. She warns about future hurt if you hook up with an ex and explains, "Even the most mind-blowing sex is not going to bring your ex back. It's only going to make you crazy. You'll feel like you've reconnected when you really haven't, like you have some sort of claim on that person when you don't. All sex with your ex does is prolong the breakup misery." Plus, you have to remember that you can't meet someone new if you don't let go of someone in your past. Casamento adds, "If you're still sexually connected to your ex, how will you make space for your future?"

If you want to hook up with your ex, should you wait a certain amount of time after your breakup or dive back in?

According to Haisha, it depends on what you want. "If you still have feelings for that person, but you know they're wrong for you, then wait a bit," she says. "If you don't have deep feelings and can't get hurt and neither can your ex, then dive back in." Either way, make sure you're on the same page before you move forward.

Related: Will You Witness 'The Walk of Shame'

What are some possible precautions to take?

While it's tempting to consider only the pros of hooking up with your ex, it's important to look at the cons too. "You or your ex's heart could get broken, or it can prevent you from moving forward in another healthier relationship," Haisha shares. "They say that you need at least six months of not having sex with your ex before you can truly move on and start fresh without bringing in old baggage.”

How do you avoid the pitfalls?

“Be careful and have conscious communication with yourself and with your ex,” says Haisha. “If you both understand what you’re doing from your higher, evolved selves, you should be okay. If you’re needy, inner child wants to act out, it can be an unhealthy choice.”

At the end of the day, it’s like anything else: The choice about whether to hook up with your ex is entirely up to you. As Jason Weberman, a certified dating and relationship expert, says, “You’re not alive unless you’re taking risks!” Do what makes you happy and what you feel is right.

It's a special time for family to come together, and even if you're separated, you are still connected through your family. This means it's a good idea to learn how to enjoy the company of one another during holiday celebrations. This celebrity couple is taking # care of their celebrity baby without extra help. What are some things to consider when determining your best childcare option?

Cupid's Advice:

There's a lot to plan for when it comes to raising a child, and one of those things includes childcare options. Some parents may choose the same route as this celebrity couple and forego the additional aid. To help you make your decision, Cupid has some advice:

1. Your child's age: The age of your kid definitely plays a role when deciding what childcare option is best. If they are really young, it's important to spend extra time with them. However, some opt to have a baby nurse and/or nanny with them right after childbirth, which can be a nice way to learn what to do. It's important to be there for them during all of the stages in their lives, so choose whatever makes the most sense for you. Hiring a trained nanny when you can't be around is a good idea, as is having your family members and friends babysit when needed.

2. Time away from them: An important aspect in picking childcare is knowing the time frame. How long will you be gone? How often will you need childcare? Do some research! If you only need a babysitter occasionally, then have a few people that you trust on file. If your schedule has a specific time that you'll require childcare consistently, then work that out with a nanny or nursery school program.

3. Your normal routine: Figuring out what kind of job schedule you and your partner have is key. Some jobs have flexible hours, whereas others do not. Some people opt for working from home in an effort to reduce how much childcare is needed.

Top Ten Most Down-To-Earth

Celebrity Wives

By Katie Gray

It's wonderful to know that there are still kind-hearted, charitable and polite people in the world! When it comes to Hollywood and celebrities in the public eye, there are frequently discussions centering around which stars are down to earth and which are not. Ever wonder which celebrity wives are the sweetest? Cupid has the top ten most down-to-earth:

Lambert is an animal activist and started MuttNation Foundation to raise awareness for shelter pets and to improve existing shelters. Frequently, she rescues dogs and has taken an active role in finding pets the homes they deserve. The country singer is married to fellow country singer, Blake Shelton and remains down to earth even after her enormous success; she still enjoys a nice BBQ, a cold beer, hunting and having friends and family by her side. This southern belle truly embodies southern hospitality, manners and values.

She seems to be taking after her mother-in-law Princess Diana, who once stated, "Carry out a random act of kindness, with no expectation of reward, safe in the knowledge that one day someone might do the same for you." The Princess is full of purpose, and donates her time, notoriety and money towards a tremendous amount of charities and nonprofit organizations. ## Celebrity couples find all kinds of ways to announce their relationships and love. How can the rest of us announce the news to our family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

Deciding when to go public with a relationship and love can be a tough decision to make; therefore, it requires a lot of thought. You should be sure that you genuinely like the person and that you're in it for the long haul. Cupid has some love advice:

1. Be sincere: When you genuinely like a person and are an exclusive item, it's a sign that you can go public. Sincerity is a subtle quality found in all successful partnerships. Once you have established that you're compatible together, you are ready to show the rest of the world!

When you know your partner will be around for a while, it's time to show the world.

Flirting While In A Relationship: Is It OK?

By Katie Gray

A common question couples are faced with is, “Is it okay to flirt while I’m in a relationship?” Another is, “If I’m flirting while I’m in a relationship with someone, is it considered cheating?” These are not always simple ‘yes’ or ‘no’ answers, as it truly depends on the individuals in the relationship, the degree of flirting, the context of the relationship and many other factors. Obviously, if one of the partners in the relationship is doing more than flirting – that is a big no, no. Clearly, if one partner is just giving someone else an innocent compliment – that is quite alright. The answers and options aren’t always crystal clear, however.

Cupid has some advice:

1. Get on the same page:

It's often difficult to detect whether flirting in a relationship is harmless or hurtful. Because; the truth is, it can be both. There are a lot of people who believe that flirting is healthy, even if you are in a relationship and indeed committed to that person. Then there are many who adamantly believe that you shouldn't flirt at all if you're serious with someone else. Some claim it's just being friendly, while others say it's cheating. The real way to determine this; is to communicate with your partner and set boundaries. You two should both be on the same page and come to a mutual agreement.

Related: Duchess Kate and Prince Harry: Is it Flirting?

2. Define "flirting" with your partner:

Everyone has a different definition of what 'flirting' actually entails. If the nature of the flirtations are sexual, that is not okay. You should be devoted to the person you're in the relationship with, otherwise you should get out of it. Maybe there are some exceptions if it's meant in a joking and/or sarcastic nature, but that's playing with fire. If you are being secretive and keeping your flirtations a secret from your partner, that is a sign that you shouldn't be doing it. Another sign it's wrong, is if you feel the need to make excuses and rationalize. If your partner is jealous, that doesn't constitute a good reason to hide something. You should respect how they feel and address it with them.. Bravo reality star and relationship coach, Dr. Heavenly says, "I believe it all depends on the relationship." She explains, "I have seen couples that think it is fun to flirt with the opposite sex as long as they don't go too far. Some people find it exciting and they bring that excitement back home to their bedroom. However; I think flirting can be harmful if the person on the receiving end takes it too seriously.” It’s best for couples to set their own guidelines.

Related: Katy Perry Is Caught Flirting with a New Man

3. Don’t set yourself up for failure:

Tiffany Mason, author and owner of Mason Coaching and Consulting, says, “Whether you are in a committed long-term relationship or you recently started dating someone, flirting should not even be in your vocabulary. There are no exceptions when it comes to flirting with someone else other than your partner. You are only setting yourself up for failure if you are even thinking about flirting with someone else.”

4. Make sure to measure personalities:

You must take your partner’s personality into consideration. Christina Pesoli, relationship expert and breakup coach, blogger for Huffington Post, and author of Break Free from the Divortex, says, “The best way to evaluate whether flirting is okay or not is to view in context with a person’s overall personality. Some people are more flirtatious by nature. If you get into a relationship with someone who is flirtatious by nature, that side of the personality is not a secret to you.” She added, “I don’t think it’s fair or healthy (or fun) to expect them to stop being flirtatious. There’s a difference of course, between flirting and having an emotional affair – and it’s true that every affair (emotional or physical) likely began with some flirting.”

The real conclusion is that people will always have a different opinion on this, so it’s best to discuss it with your partner and find out how they truly feel. That’s the only person who should matter on this subject.

If you have children and are dating someone who isn't their father, it's important to be extra cautious before you introduce your kids to your new partner. Your top priority is your offspring, and you want to make sure they are comfortable and safe. It can be scary, but stay positive because it could end great – just like Brad Paisley's song 'He Didn't Have To Be.' Cupid has some tips on how you can filter out bad partners and only introduce those who are actually good partner choices to your children:

1. Play detective: Act like a private investigator, and be a detective. Do some digging around to find out all you can about this person. You can figure out things while you're getting to know them, as well as asking around about them. It's best that you don't introduce your children to anyone who you don't truly know.

2. History repeats itself: History definitely has a way of repeating itself, which is why we study it in school. If this person has a sketchy past, you'll want to uncover every rock and be very skeptical. Everyone makes mistakes, so if it is very minor or they have really changed, then test the waters first if that's what you ultimately want. Introduce your kids only after you know they are not a threat.
