In celebrity couple news, Scott Disick was seen out with ex-Kourtney Kardashian amid his split from Sofia Richie. How do you know if you're still hung up on an ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Missing an ex is a common and sometimes inevitable occurrence. If you're wondering if you may fall into that category, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. You're constantly thinking about them: If the one thing that seems to always be on your mind is your ex, then chances are you're not over them. Think about the good and bad within the relationship and why it ended. If you went your separate ways for reasons that were fixable or poorly timed, then maybe reconciliation is in your future. For those whose relationship ended for valid and critical reasons, then you need to remember why the split took place. Nostalgia plays a selective highlight reel through our memory and focuses on the highest of highs, don't let this cloud your judgment.

2. You stalk their socials: Are you glued to your phone and constantly checking in on your ex's profiles? If that sounds like you, then you're probably not over them. This definitely isn't a healthy step in the moving-on process or any for that matter! Once you've split, unfriend and unfollow your partner. Cutting off this visibility is crucial for you to embark on the next stage of your life. Constantly checking in or stalking their pages isn't going to do you any good and may lead to your feelings getting hurt all over again.

3. You're still reaching out: Closure is a crucial part of the breakup process. It's important that the two of you have an open and honest discussion about why things ended so you're both walking away without any lingering questions. Once this has happened, it's important that you move forward with your life and work towards finding your own happiness. Stop trying to rehash the past or continue to ask your ex what went wrong. Accept that it wasn't the right path and focus on yourself.

Co-parenting isn't anyone's ideal situation, but it's a lot of people's reality. It can be hard to maneuver the best way to co-parent with your ex. Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Always communicate: It can be difficult to keep talking to your ex after you break-up, but if you have children together it's so important to keep communicating. You are both still parents whether you're together or not, and that means you still need to make decisions together pertaining to your kids. Keep your ex informed, and they should do the same with you.

2. Have a plan: Once you and your partner break up, you need to create a plan when it comes to the kids. Sit down with your ex and figure out who the kids are going to live with, when the kids are going to visit the other parent, who's going to have the kids on which holidays, who's going to take the kids to school and all of the other little details. Agree on the details, and stick to them for consistency in your kids' lives.

3. Try not to involve to kids: You and your ex broke up for a reason. Whatever that reason may be, try not involve your kids in your adult business. Don't talk negatively about your ex to your children, because that's their parent and you wouldn't want that done to you. Try to portray you ex in the best light possible in front of your kids.
