Cupid's Advice:

In a relationship you always want to be supportive of what your partner is doing, even if it feels like it's stealing time away from your relationship. If your partner has a demanding job and you're looking for ways to cope, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Don't nag: Annoying your partner about the long hours that they work isn't going to make the situation any better. Instead have a conversation with them about it when you get the chance, it'll result in a better outcome.

2. Show unconditional support: It can be difficult to show interest in your spouse's career after your own long day of work. But it's important that you're thoughtful and present in your conversations relating to your partner's career, and that your support is unconditional toward their work. Without such support, a lack of understanding and resentment can breed in your partner, making it difficult to act as a couple.

3. Come up with a solution together: After talking to your partner, you should try to come up with a set day and time once a week that you know you count on your partner to be around. That way even when it feels like you haven't seen your partner in a while, you can look forward to the set time that you both put together.
