Dealing with Evidence of Exes

Mirror Mirror star Lily Collins was seen recently in pictures with Jamie Campbell Bower, taken while filming a movie together in Canada. That's a change. We're used to seeing Lily in photos with Zac Efron. But rumor has it that Lily and Zac have now split.

Celebrities get together and break up in front of the camera all the time. But these days you don't have to be a star to see your new love interest with an ex. With all the social media that comes into play today, it might be too easy to witness the relationship that came before yours. So what does this mean for your romantic future? And when, if ever, is it OK to talk about it?

In the old days, break-ups were much cleaner. Sure, there might be some old photos of an ex stuck in a box somewhere, but you would have to really snoop to find those. Now all you have to do is go to your new boyfriend or girlfriend's Facebook page.

First, if you are the one leaving those old photos up, it's time to take them down. You don't have to destroy them. Maybe you can just move them to a private file on your computer. If, however, you are the one left to see your new flame with his or her old one, the first thing I'd suggest is to talk about it. There is a chance your partner isn't aware the photos are up. If he or she leaves them there intentionally, don't become angry or try to force their removal. Instead, keep those pics in mind. Know that they're an indication that your new lover hasn't made a clean break. As your partner asks you to go further into a relationship, remember those images and hold back a little in an effort to protect yourself. Until he or she hits that delete button, the person won't be ready to fully move forward.

Celebrities like Lily and Jamie might not have control over the photos that end up in the magazines, but everyone has control over their Facebook pages.

How do you know if someone is a good match for you?

Knowing someone is a good match for you is a feeling. That said, here are a few tell-tale signs that you're with the right person:

2. You talk about them non-stop: If your friends are sick of hearing about how funny your new man's jokes are, you are surely talking about him too much. Although this may be annoying for your girlfriends, it's just another sign that you are stepping in the right direction in your relationship.

What are three strong dinner date conversational points?

Cupid's Advice:

Being nervous about a dinner date is perfectly normal. Conversation can be a serious challenge when your nerves have the best of you. Here are some great go-to points to discuss:

1. Education: Discussing your college life can be a great way to get to know someone. Uncovering that your date was a music major may make you 10 times more interested. Sharing his experiences can give you a new outlook, as well as a great way to get to know one another.

2. Work: Knowing what your new man does for a living is a deal changer. However, don't let work steer the entire conversation, as it would get boring very quickly. Bring up how much you enjoy your job as a nurse, but don't give any gruesome emergency rooms horror stories.

3. Hobbies: Talking about what you love to do in your spare time is the number one way to get to know someone. Maybe you both enjoy skiing, or biking. Either way, once you discover what you have in common, your conversation will steer itself in the right direction.
