Lots of couples will eventually discuss marriage and possible next steps in their relationship. Though, when it does come time to pop the question, convention says you don't want them to see it coming:

Jon Hamm Explains Why He'd Be a 'Terrible Father'

Jon

Hamm, currently starring Friends with Kids, says he doesn't want kids. The 41-year-old actor told UsMagazine.com, "I'd be a terrible father!" Hamm, a devoted actor, doesn't know how his friends can balance a demanding career and children. His girlfriend, Jennifer Westfeldt, 42, also recently spoke out about why she Hamm never started a family. She said that her life has gone in many unanticipated directions, and that she's happy the way things are. "The chance that we'll regret it doesn't seem like a compelling enough reason to do it," she said. "I may wake up tomorrow with that lighting bolt, and I'll have to scramble to make it happen."

How do you know if you're cut out to be a parent?

Cupid's Advice:

It's usually not about if you'd love and care for your child, but if you are ready to have one of your own. Here are some ways to tell if you're cut out to be a parent:

1. You're in a committed relationship: The most important factor when having a child is the state you're in with your significant other. You both need to be committed in the long run if you are going to have a child together.

2. You're both stable: The most important years of a child's life are when they first begin growing up. You need to make sure you're financially stable as well as able to settle down in one place for a while as your child grows up.

3. Family must come first: When you want to have a child, that should come before anything else. You need to be able to put your family above your career, because if you plan to be an absent parent, then you aren't ready to raise a child.

January Jones Said Returning to 'Mad Men' Post-Baby Was Tough

January Jones, made famous by her role as Betty Draper (now Betty Francis) on AMC's hit show Mad Men, described her feelings of coming back to work seven weeks after giving birth to her son, Xander, as first day of school nerves. According to People, the long days on the set were tough for her, especially with her son being so little, but work did everything possible to make it comfortable for her. "The first episode I'm always finding my way back into my character's shoes. But, then after a few days, I'm able to fall pretty easily back into her, and find her voice and her body language and everything that I do for her," said Jones.

What are some ways to balance your career and your family?

Cupid's Advice:

Finding work and family balance is never easy, but it's not impossible. As long as you're getting equal support from your family and work, finding a work/life balance is completely possible. Here's how:

1. Be honest and open a work: Let your boss and co-workers know that though your life at home may have changed, your dedication and performance at work will not. Make arrangements in advance as to what to do if you have to leave work at a moment's notice for your family.

2. Be supportive: Support your partner and co-workers with their careers and growing families, and they will in exchange do the same for you.

3. Be thankful: Take a moment every day to be thankful for everyone in your life and the support system they have formed.

January Jones Says Being a Single Working Mother Is 'Difficult'

ry Jones has been playing supermom, being a single mother for newborn, Xander, while working hard on the set for season 5 of Mad Men. She had already been on the set and was working hard when Xander was only 6 to 7 weeks old. But the 34-year-old actress told UsMagazine.com, "It was difficult to be a working mom and just juggling all of that. But everyone made it work and it was great." Even though she is a single working mother, the staff on the set has made her job as a mother and actress that much easier.

What are some ways to balance your career and being a parent?

Cupid's Advice:

Being a parent should always come first on your list, but if your career is flexible, then you might be able to do both.

Here are some ways to keep a good balance:

1. Don't work long hours: It's fine to have a baby and to be working at the same time, but remember your child needs you and its home environment to grow up normally. Don't overdo working, and make sure you're able to have some quality time with your kid at home.

2. Make sure your boss knows you're a parent: Remind your boss that you do have children and although your job can be very demanding at times, you need to be at home with your family without including your job with every thing you do. Let them know you need some periodic family time.

3. Don't choose work events over family events: The biggest mistake is letting your job take over. It's always good to work hard, but your children will start taking things to heart if you continue choosing work events over their soccer games or gymnastics matches. You never want to get to the point where they begin resenting you.

Elisabeth Moss to Divorce Fred Armisen

After less than a year of marriage, Mad Men star Elisabeth Moss and SNL cast member Fred Armisen are calling it quits, reports The Huffington Post. Moss originally met Armisen when her fellow Mad Men cast member Jon Hamm hosted Saturday Night Live in 2008. The two got married in October of last year and separated on June 26, citing “irreconcilable differences.” Rumor has it that the split may actually have been due to Moss practicing Scientology. “Her religion was as important to her as their marriage, if not more,” a friend of Armisen’s told Us Weekly. Armisen is reportedly now dating SNL co-star Abby Elliott. What are three important things to know about your partner before marriage?

Cupid’s Advice:

When you get married, you promise to cherish another person “until death do you part.” That’s why it’s so important to really get to know your partner before walking down the aisle. Cupid shows you what you absolutely must know about your partner before saying “I do”:

1. Beliefs and values: A person’s religious beliefs and moral values make up a large part of who they are. While you probably won't agree on everything, at least be open to your partner's views. If your beliefs and values differ too much, you might want to rethink taking such a huge step in your relationship.

2. Goals in life: You and your partner should have similar goals if you want to spend the rest of your lives together. For example, finding out that he doesn't want children before getting hitched might make you change your mind.

3. Bad habits: It may sound insignificant, but get to know his habits before settling down together. If he has some habits that you just can't learn to live with, it's best to find out before you tie the knot.

Fred Armisen Already Moved on From Mad Men Star

regular Fred Armisen seems to have moved on rather quickly from Elisabeth Moss, star of the Emmy Award-winning drama, Mad Men. The former couple married in October, but officially separated in May after only seven months. According to E! Online, Armisen was spotted getting cozy with fellow SNL comedian Abby Elliott at a Los Angeles restaurant.

How do you keep your cool when you ex moves on shortly after a split?

Cupid's Advice:

It's easy to get infuriated when it comes up in your Facebook feed that your ex is already seeing someone else directly after a breakup. Here are some tips from Cupid on how to handle it when your ex has moved on rather quickly:

1. Think before you react: It's normal to want to confront your ex about how angry you are, and wonder if your romance ever meant anything to him or her in the first place. However, the best reaction in this case is usually no reaction.

2. Get your mind off things: When you first discover your ex's new relationship, it may linger on your mind. Try to focus on other things, such as hobbies or work. Keeping your focus somewhere else will keep your feelings in check.

3. Seek the company of friends and family: Even if you aren't ready to move on, that doesn't mean you have to be alone. Spend time with close friends and family. If you want to get out your feelings, these are the people who will listen.
