

Parenting Tips: Should You Circumcise Your Baby?

By Noelle Downey

There's no doubt about it – parenting can be a minefield. There are so many decisions to make and questions that don't seem to have a clear right answer. While every good parent does everything they can to make sure that their child is safe, happy, and healthy, sometimes even the experts have conflicting parenting tips on the best ways to accomplish that goal. One of the most hot-button topics when it comes to parenting advice is circumcision. While some experts argue that circumcision has health benefits like decreased risk of urinary tract infections, penile cancer or STI's, others contend that the reduction of the risk is actually so small that it doesn't warrant a corrective procedure, especially for infants who have no say in what some consider to be an invasive surgery. Differing cultural and religious views also tend to influence parents when it comes to whether or not they choose to have their children circumcised. Although circumcision is a medical procedure many take for granted, even some celebrity parents argue against it. Cupid is here with a list of the top five most vocal celebrity protestors of circumcision.

Whether or not you believe circumcision is right for your children, there are plenty of famous parents who say their top parenting tip for their celebrity babies is to avoid the cut altogether!

1. Alicia Silverstone: Alicia Silverstone is a celebrity mom to six-year-old son Bear Blu Jarecki, and she and her husband, Christopher Jarecki, made the personal decision not to circumcise Bear despite the fact that Silverstone had a Jewish upbringing. Silverstone confronted the complicated decision she and her husband made in her book, 'The Kind Mama' and later said that her fans reactions to it touched her deeply. "One [fan] said that 17 years ago she had her son, and she made this choice," Silverstone shared in a celebrity interview with The Stir, "and she was crying, because she was remembering her experience. It was moving to me."

2. Ben Affleck: Ben Affleck, celebrity ex of Jennifer Garner and dad to children Violet, Seraphina, and Samuel, has said in the past that despite some reports from experts that state that being uncircumcised can lead to an increased risk of frequent urinary tract infections, he himself doesn't approve of the practice. He once confessed to Jon Stewart in an interview, "I hate circumcisions! Get enough in me, and I'll tell you how much I hate them!"

3. Russell Crowe: Famed actor and father to two sons, Charles and Tennyson, Russell Crowe took to Twitter to slam circumcision in a series of controversial tweets. The actor steamed, "Circumcision is barbaric and stupid. Who are you to correct nature? Babies are perfect." While many responded negatively to his tweets, citing a lack of sensitivity to the nuanced reasons that many choose to circumcise their children, others firmly supported his declarations, sparking a dramatic social media storm.

4. Mario Lopez: On a 2010 episode of this cute star's hit reality TV show, 'Saved By the Baby', Mario Lopez pushed his then-girlfriend (now wife) Courtney Mazza to consider not circumcising their future son, and the discussion quickly got heated for the celebrity couple. "That's not up for discussion," Lopez insisted firmly, "News flash, this is the way all men are born." Lopez and Mazza are now celebrity parents to two children, Gia Francesca Lopez and Dominic Lopez.

5. Cameron Diaz: It's not just celebrity parents who have their opinions on circumcision. Forty-four year old actress Cameron Diaz has made it clear in the past that if she and her husband Benji Madden ever have a son, that circumcision will not be for them. She spoke in an interview with The Stir about her film 'What to Expect When You're Expecting' and some changes that had to be made to the script to achieve a PG-13

rating, claiming, “they made us cut out a bunch about circumcision. To get a PG-13 rating we had to cut out the actual description of circumcision. So apparently it is very uncomfortable for people to hear how it works.” Diaz added, “America is the same way about their beef – they just want it delivered in a styrofoam package with saran wrap over it. They don’t want to know how it got to you. Same thing with circumcision.”

What do you think about the practice of circumcision? Do the alleged health benefits or personal concerns outweigh these celebrity opinions? Or do you think they have a point? Let us know in the comments!

"He's a great guy," beloved actress Hawn enthused, "Yeah, he's very special actually." Russell added his praise, saying, "I always approve. Kate brings good guys."

This celebrity news is certainly the next step in Kate Hudson's relationship. What are some ways to know you're ready for the next step in your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Cupid is here with some top tips on how to know when you and your partner are ready to take the next big step in your relationship:

1. When you both know what you want: Make sure that before you take your relationship public or put any kind of labels on what you're doing, sit down and talk about what you're both ultimately looking for. Are you interested in a long-term commitment? Are you just looking for something casual? Do you want to get married? Will you ever want to? In casual dating these questions aren't really a concern, but when it comes to a relationship getting serious, it's vital to know where your partner stands on where you're going as a couple, so sit down and talk it out before things go any further.

Related Link: Celebrity Relationships: Kate Hudson Says 'I Am Dating'

2. When your communication is going great: If you're going to be in a serious relationship, it's time to get real about communication. If you two struggle to hold a serious conversation in which you can actually share your thoughts and emotions with one another, it's time to give some serious thought about whether you're both ready to be in a serious relationship together. Any good couple has great communication or is working hard towards that goal, so if you always know you can go and talk to your partner, that's a good sign that you're in a good place to begin something more serious.

Related Link: Kate Hudson Looks Up to Goldie Hawn and Kurt Russell's Relationship

3. When your friends and family love them: Approval from friends and family doesn't have to mean everything, and let's be honest, sometimes people just don't get along no matter how awesome they are when they're separated. However, it's also really amazing when your friends and family can see the great person you're with as... well, great. Especially if you come from a close-knit family or friend group it can be really important for you to feel like your significant other is accepted. And if every single one of the people you love is telling you that your partner doesn't seem right for you, it may be time to think about why they all seem to be saying the same thing. Relationships where it seems to be you and them against the rest of the world never end very well.

Celebrity Couple News: Ariel Winter Reveals She's Living with Boyfriend Levi Meaden

By Noelle Downey

There's big celebrity couple news this week for one well-known star and her boyfriend! According to UsMagazine.com, Ariel Winter officially revealed she and boyfriend Levi Meaden are living together during a recent interview with late-night talk show host, Jimmy Kimmel. The couple first went public with their Hollywood relationship in November of 2016, walking the red-carpet hand in hand a month later. Winter, nineteen-year-old star of Emmy-award winning Modern Family, opened up to Kimmel about how she and twenty-nine-year-old Meaden make their celebrity relationship work when it comes to keeping things up around the house. "He cooks. I can't cook at all," Winter laughed, "He takes care of all that handy stuff. He's great, he does all that." She went on to admit that she was "like the worst wifely person" and that while she does try to contribute by baking pies for her sweetheart every so often, she admitted, "he does everything else. It's great."

This celebrity couple is taking things to the next level! How do you decide whether to live with your partner or not?

Cupid's Advice:

When it comes to moving in together, knowing when both you and your partner are ready to take the plunge can be tricky! Here are the top three ways to know if you and your significant other are ready to take things to the next level:

1. When it feels like a natural next step: If moving in together seems like the next logical thing to do in the course of a healthy relationship together, then don't doubt yourself! It probably is. For a lot of couples, moving in together just seems to start making sense after awhile, especially if they're anxious to spend time together but often find themselves too busy for regular date nights. Moving in together can be a great way to see each other more and enjoy a life together in every sense of the word.

Related Link: New Celebrity Couple? Ariel Winter Kisses and Holds Hands with Levi Meaden After Friendsgiving

2. When nobody feels pressured: If one or both of you feel pressured into making the move, then step back and consider why you're feeling that way. Remember, just because you don't want to move in with someone right away doesn't mean you don't like them or even love them, it just means that you're not ready for that. That could be true for a host of reasons, and the same thing goes for your partner. If you start to feel like you're being pressured into making a big decision or you worry that your partner may feel that way, sit down and have a talk about your worries and clear the air. Communication is key, and you've both got to know you're on the same page when it comes to a huge change like this.

3. When you're basically already living together: If at this point one of you basically only has "their own place" for extra storage space for their stuff, it may be time to make the jump to officially living together. If you spend all your time together and always gravitate toward one or the other of your apartments, take the leap and move in there together. It will be a relief to have all your stuff consolidated into one space again, and it won't feel like such a chore trudging back to your own apartment after spending a week with your significant other at their place.

Celebrity News: A Brand New Episode of 'Lucky Dog' with Host Brandon McMillan Will Warm Your Heart

By Noelle Downey

Animal lovers, it's time to rejoice! In the latest celebrity news, there's a brand new and particularly sweet episode of the hit CBS show Lucky Dog coming out this Saturday, May 13th. It will have your heart swelling with love for an adorable dog named Frankie, not to mention for Brandon McMillan, the handsome host and passionate dog trainer.

Watch Lucky Dog on Your Next Date Night

The show follows McMillan as he rescues dogs from shelters and pounds who have hours left before they're put down and then trains them at his famed Lucky Dog Ranch to prepare them for life with a fantastic family. It's the perfect heart-warming fare to cuddle up and watch with your dog-loving significant other for a date night! This weekend's episode, sponsored by The Outdoor Power Equipment Institute's (OPEI) TurfMutt environmental education and stewardship program, will feature a rescue dog named Frankie, a Beagle mix that's training-shy and anxious around humans after a series of negative experiences in his past. “He’s basically written off all humans because of what they’ve done to him,” the host confesses in a teaser clip from the episode.

McMillan goes above and beyond to help this damaged doggy find his way back to a trusting, loving connection with humans, while OPEI’s Kris Kiser visits a potential dream home for Frankie. Unfortunately, he discovers that their yard is anything but dog-friendly, filled with packed-down dirt instead of lush turfgrass, which, Kiser advises to dog owners, is the best option for keeping a cool temperature and a dog-friendly softness in your yard. The team at Lucky Dog sets to work to make the potential owner’s yard more appealing with a massive landscaping makeover. “We thought it was a good conversion opportunity,” Kiser explains, “where we could give the owner a living landscape and a much better spot for her family and her adopted dog.” With the help of an adorable fluffy pal named Olive, Frankie starts the long process of learning the commands and obedience training he’ll need to thrive in his new home.

So why does McMillan feel so passionate about training dogs who might not otherwise get a shot at a second home? In a 2013 celebrity interview with CupidsPulse.com, the television host explained, “I read the facts, and they blow my mind. Every year in America, over 1.5 million dogs are euthanized because they can’t find homes. I wanted to find out why this was happening.”

Still, this passionate drive to save furry friends has taken its toll on his free time, in particular his love life. In the same 2013 interview, McMillan shared his insane schedule, saying, “I’m so consumed by the show that I go to bed at around 9 p.m. because I have to get up at 4 a.m. We start every morning around 6 a.m. because I want to make sure we work the dogs before the heat kicks in every afternoon.”

Still, that didn’t prevent him for sharing some great dating advice in our 2014 celebrity interview with him. It’s clear his busy schedule has caused him to think carefully about what he’ll do when he does have more free time to spend with a special someone. “No sitting on the couch watching trash television,” McMillan advised any couples out there. “Really plan your moments for and with each other. Saying ‘I’m too tired’ leads to trouble.”

Don’t miss this special episode of Lucky Dog, airing on Saturday, May 13th! Check your local listings for channel and time.

Celebrity Break-Up: Demi Lovato & Guilherme ‘Bomba’ Vasconcelos Split

By Noelle Downey

There's trouble in paradise for one celebrity couple this week! According to UsMagazine.com, Demi Lovato and MMA fighter boyfriend, Guilherme “Bomba” Vasconcelos, have officially called it quits. The celebrity exes first started seeing one another in July of last year, shortly after Lovato and long-time boyfriend Wilmer Valderrama had their celebrity break-up. Although Lovato and Vasconcelos were “just having fun” a source close to Lovato confessed, the two rekindled their Hollywood relationship in January of 2017 and have since been verbal on social media about their celebrity love story. Lovato gushed over her celebrity relationship to TV talk show host Ellen in April, saying, "I'm very happy. Life is really good." So what happened to break apart this famous celebrity couple? A source close to the exes claims, "It wasn't a dramatic split. Bomba is a good guy, but the relationship just ran its course."

This relationship has ended up a celebrity break-up. What are some ways to know your relationship is done for good?

Cupid's Advice:

Break-ups are never fun, but Cupid is here with the top tips on how to know when your relationship has officially run its course:

1. When the end feels inevitable: If you feel as though you're just counting down the days until something snags and you guys finally have the final fight that leads to the demise of your couplehood, it may be already time to call it quits. Relationships generally shouldn't feel like they have a looming expiration date, and if you feel as though any good times you have are constantly overshadowed with your gut-feeling that this relationship isn't going to last, then you should trust your instincts.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Demi Lovato Supports Rumored BF Guilherme Vasconcelos at MMA Fight

2. When neither of you is upset: If you feel as though your relationship has deflated to the point that neither of you is particularly invested in it continuing, then do yourself both a favor and cut it off so you can go find something that really fills you both with passion. If you can broach the topic of your break-up without either of you feeling like you're really losing anything of value, then it's probably time to cut the cord and get on with your lives, separately.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Joe Jonas 'Likes' Pic of Ex Demi Lovato with On-Again Boyfriend Guilherme 'Bomba' Vasconcelos

3. When you feel consistently unhappy: If you're in a relationship where you feel as though you're always waiting for the "good time" and the moment when you'll really feel like you and your partner are clicking, then take a step back and consider why that is. It could be that your relationship isn't really what you want it to be, and that could be because of the person you're in that relationship with. Remember, you don't need to have a million reasons to leave someone, you just need one good one, and being consistently unhappy in your relationship is a great reason to call it quits permanently.

This celebrity news has us troubled. What are some ways to deal with a partner who gets into legal trouble?

Cupid's Advice:

There's no way around it, if you've ever had a partner or ex who got involved in some troubling illegal activities, that's bound to lead to tension in your relationship and in your lives. Here are Cupid's top tips on how to deal with a partner in legal trouble:

1. Consider the offense: Of course, when it comes to a brush with the law, there are varying degrees of legal offenses. You should react differently based on whether your partner has, for example, been caught planning and executing elaborate heists or shoplifting petty items at a drugstore. So first things first, when a partner gets involved in some kind of crime, stop and consider the offense. It's important to recognize the nuances of legality and while many crimes should give you serious pause about continuing the relationship, others may be something you can work through as a couple.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Jodie Sweetin Speaks Out After Drama-Filled Split from Fiance Justin Hodak

2. Make sure you and your children are safe: Of course, sometimes the answer is clear already. If a partner has been charged with violent tendencies, domestic abuse, or owning a violent weapon and you feel that you are in some kind of danger, act immediately. Go to the police and express your concerns, and then reach out to family and friends to help you through this difficult time, whether that be by staying at your place or opening their home to you so you have a place you can go where you can feel safe and secure. The first priority in situations like that should be making sure that you and any children you have are safe so that you can start re-building your lives without the negative influence of your ex.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Jodie Sweetin Ends Engagement to Justin Hodak and Gets Restraining Order

3. Talk to your partner: If the situation is such that you are surprised by the alleged crimes your partner is accused of, try getting a moment to talk to them. Many times if the offense is not major, you will have the opportunity to pay bail and speak to your partner as a “free” individual once more. Have an open conversation with your partner and ask them why they did what they did. Be honest about how hurt and betrayed you feel by their dishonest actions and then figure out if there’s a way you can work through it together, if that’s what you want.

Celebrity News: Hailee Steinfeld Addresses Justin Bieber Dating Rumors

By Noelle Downey

Superstar singer and actress Hailee Steinfeld has officially gone out of her way to debunk some recent celebrity news that has been circulating through the rumor mill; she and Justin Bieber are not dating. According to UsMagazine.com, the rumors were stirred up when photos of Steinfeld and Bieber FaceTiming were noted by fans of the pair. They were recently seen hanging out together, but Steinfeld is firm that this doesn't mean anything about their respective relationship statuses. "I don't know why people make such a big deal," Steinfeld insisted, "We're friends. We've been friends for years." So what's really going on in her love life? Steinfeld and boyfriend Cameron Smoller are still the celebrity couple of the moment, and it seems that rumors of her Hollywood relationship with Bieber haven't phased the pair. In fact, Smoller recently shared a social media post of him and Steinfeld cozying up together, and Steinfeld commented back with a sweet heart emoji.

It looks like this celebrity news comes from a rumor! What are some ways to keep rumors from affecting your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

When it comes to rumor and gossip, these silly stories can have a really negative effect on your relationship with your significant other. Here are Cupid's top tips for not letting the drama bring you or your relationship down:

1. Talk it out with your partner: Recently heard a crazy rumor about you or your SO that's beginning to bother you? Sit down with your partner and talk it out. Figure out how much truth is behind it, if any, and go from there. If hearing the rumor made you upset or hurt in any way, own up to that, and explain to your partner it's important to you to address these negative feelings before they take over your relationship and breed resentment, when most likely the story is barely even based in truth!

Related Link: Celebrity News: Justin Bieber Was Sad and Single on Valentine's Day

2. Confront the problem: Just like Hailee Steinfeld, it's okay for you to step up and explain that the recent rumors about you or your relationship are totally off-base. If you catch someone in the act of spreading a rumor about you, be kind but firm and explain that that information is incorrect and that it bothers you that false rumors are being spread about you. You can explain what's really going on, but remember that you don't owe anyone a detailed explanation of your personal life. It's enough to simply say, "No, what you've heard isn't true, and I'd appreciate if you'd stop spreading that misinformation."

3. Ignore it: On the flip side, if the rumor truly is just silly nonsense that isn't hurting anyone, it's fine to just ignore the buzz and go on with your happy life and relationship with your significant other. If you and your partner are really secure in your relationship and don't bat an eye when you hear rumors about each other or yourselves, then why let the gossips see you sweat? If you're asked about it, laugh it off and tell whatever nosy individual is trying to pry that of course that rumor isn't true. If you're capable and willing to rise above the petty mind games of gossips, then do so!

Kate Upton Admits Fiance

Justin Verlander Will Hate One Aspect of Their Celebrity Wedding

By Noelle Downey

Celebrity couple Kate Upton and Justin Verlander have hit a minor snag while planning for their upcoming celebrity wedding – Verlander is allergic to the main decorations! According to UsMagazine.com, Upton, who announced her celebrity engagement to adorable athlete Verlander in 2016, confessed that while she wants, “a lot of flowers” and “petals already down by the time my niece, who will be my flower girl, walks down the aisle” she is also aware that this may be a bit of a struggle for her handsome soon-to-be-husband. “Justin has terrible allergies!” she admitted, “He’ll have to take any allergy pill.”

A celebrity wedding wouldn't be complete without flowers ...even if your fiance is allergic! What are some ways to make your wedding pretty without flowers?

Cupid's Advice:

Any relationship flourishes when compromises are considered. So if your special someone is sniffing when it comes to saying your vows in the midst of all that allergy-inducing pollen, here are Cupid's top three alternatives to make your special day still as gorgeous as ever:

1. Handmade bouquets: While it may sound tacky at first, it's amazing the kind of realism and beauty that can be captured by tissue paper flowers. Check out online art stores like Etsy for pretty pre-made alternatives when it comes flowers and patrol sites like Pinterest if you feel up to the crafty challenge of creating your own bridal bouquet. If you're looking for the essence of flowers without the smell, the pollen or the cost, check out tissue paper flowers, a genuinely pretty alternative that will add a touch of extra care to your already gorgeous ceremony.

2. Concentrate on lighting: If you're forgoing flowers entirely, why not focus on another vital and often underutilized way to make everything sparkle; the lighting. Using Christmas or twinkle lights to add some starry shine to your big day, or walking down the aisle via flickering candlelight are two great ways to show off your style when it comes to your wedding. Based on your venue, try floating paper lanterns or light streaming through prisms for a rainbow effect to add your own personal touch to the lighting on your wedding day. A bonus to this tactic is good lighting makes for great photos, so your wedding pictures could come out looking even more beautiful than you ever expected.

3. Rely on lace: If what attracts you to flowers is their delicate prettiness, why not try lace as an alternative? Its gorgeous spidery beauty could outshine any flower when used correctly. Use lace and sprigs of white (fake) flowers to decorate the church or other venue, then fashion some lacy roses out of your favorite delicate white fabric for your bouquet. Have your attendants carry matching ones in different shades for a special stand-out look that will be elegant and eye-catching.

By Noelle Downey

New celebrity couple Jennifer Lopez and Alex Rodriguez have officially gone public on the red-carpet! According to UsMagazine.com, the A-list couple was photographed at the 2017 Met Gala on May 1 in the shining city of NYC, after being spotted the previous evening stepping out and cuddling up on a romantic date night. This Hollywood relationship began just three months ago, but an insider spills that it hasn't prevented these two lovebirds from talking about a future together, which might even include a celebrity wedding. "They've been talking about the future and of course marriage has come up," the source confesses. "They aren't making wedding plans, but they have been talking about their lives.”

This new celebrity couple is going public with their relationship! How do you know when it's time to introduce your partner to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

There's no doubt about it; introducing your new significant other to your friends and family can be super nerve-wracking! When in doubt, Cupid is here with top tips on when to know it's time to make the big introductions:

1. When your partner is an integral part of your day-to-day life: If you and your partner's days always include some kind of contact with each other, from a friendly text conversation to check-in or a date night for dinner or a movie at their house, it may be time to take the next step and introduce them to your friends and family. If you feel secure in your relationship and know that it is far from being an on-and-off type of thing, then it makes total sense for your friends and family to get to know more about your sweetie!

2. When you know they're someone special: Introducing friends and family to a new significant other can be stressful, but what makes it a lot less of a hurdle to jump is when you know for sure the person you're introducing them to is someone you truly care about and who you think is something special. You don't have to be days away from tying the knot or on the brink of moving in together, but make sure this is someone who you want to bring home to your mom and dad, or have to dinner with your best friend. Remember, these are the people who love you most in the whole world, it's actually an honor for your SO to get to meet them!

3. When you've talked about it: When in doubt, speak to your significant other about whether or not they're ready to meet your friends and family. Even if they're absolutely crazy about you, your partner may have some anxieties about taking such a big step, so feel free to put it off for another month if you feel like you're still getting to know each other or aren't sure yet what your label truly is. Whenever you decide to meet each other's families, make sure you're both comfortable with the decision and the timing and have discussed your relationship to enough of a degree that this introduction feels like the next logical step.

Ciara & Russell Wilson Welcome a Celebrity Baby Girl

By Noelle Downey

According to UsMagazine.com, one famous celebrity couple deserves some congratulations for celebrating a big event; the arrival of their celebrity baby, a daughter named Sienna Princess Wilson. Ciara and second husband Russell Wilson announced their celebrity pregnancy just three short months after their fairytale celebrity wedding. Ciara is already the celebrity parent to a two-year-old son, Future Jr., whom she co-parents with ex-husband, Future, but she and Wilson still chose to remain abstinent until their wedding night. Ciara commented on this choice, saying, "You shouldn't feel like you have to give your body away to get someone to like you." And it certainly seems like Wilson fits the bill when it comes to liking her! He gushed about his wife and the mother of his child, saying, "She's everything you could ever want, honestly" and added that he had suspected for a long time that they might be a good fit. "I told somebody, 'I'm probably going to end up with Ciara,'" Wilson confessed.

This duo is too cute, and they've now added a celebrity baby to the mix! What are some ways to know your relationship is ready for children?

Cupid's Advice:

Parenting can seem like a huge, daunting responsibility. Cupid is here with the top tips on knowing when you and your partner are ready for your next big adventure; kids:

1. You're financially secure: Before you and your partner start taking the necessary steps to expanding your family tree, make sure you're in a good place financially to add a member to your family unit. After all, to give your child a wonderful life, you'll need some sort of financial security, and to be in a position where you can rest easy knowing that you'll always be able to provide for kid's wants and needs. Make sure both you and your partner are ready to make the sacrifices and do the hard work to be in a good financial position for your child's future.

Related Link: Russell Wilson Reveals 'Best Part' of His Celebrity Wedding Day

2. Both you and your partner want children: This may seem like a no-brainer, but it's an important conversation to have. After all, for some having children is not even on their radar, and you don't want your partner to feel pressured into the decision to have a kid by your enthusiasm or desire for one. Sit down with your partner and make sure you're both on the same page, that you know what you want and that you have similar goals and plans for the future when it comes to your family-life.

Related Link: Celebrity News: Russell Wilson Says Fiancee Ciara is Way Out of His League

3. You can present a united front with your partner: It's never a good idea to try and use a child to "save" an already-failing relationship. If you and your partner are on the rocks, have poor communication, or a ton of unresolved issues, deal with those issues first and foremost before even considering having a kid. While it may seem like having a child would bring you and your partner together, in reality, bringing children into an already crumbling relationship is just a recipe for disaster and a lot of hurt on every side.

Celebrity Divorce: 'Vanderpump Rules' Star Sheana Shay Finalizes Divorce from Mike Shay

By Noelle Downey

Former celebrity couple Scheana Shay and Mike Shay have officially split, with UsMagazine.com reporting that their celebrity divorce has recently been finalized. The former spouses are settling their affairs now, with reality TV star Scheana paying Mike 50,000 dollars in order to make sure that their assets remain balanced and equitable. While Scheana once accused Mike of cheating on the hit reality show, Vanderpump Rules, the celebrity exes seem to have buried the hatchet for now, with both claiming that, “While we have made the difficult decision to move forward separately, our story will continue on through the love and mutual respect that we have cultivated throughout our 15-year friendship.” Their joint statement on their celebrity break-up went on to state that they will continue to, “support each other’s personal happiness and professional success” despite the fact that they both admitted they had “failed at [their] marriage.”

This much-talked-about split has ended up in celebrity divorce. What are some ways you know your relationship cannot be fixed?

Cupid's Advice:

When it comes to break-ups, there's no easy way to know just when you and your partner should call it quits. However, Cupid is here with some sure signs you should look for that your relationship may be going belly-up:

1. You no longer enjoy spending time together: Every couple, no matter how strong, goes through rough patches. However, if you can't think of the last time that you and your partner spent time together and you parted ways feeling happy and satisfied, that's something to take seriously. If you two aren't that happy to see each other even on your best days, that's a huge red flag signaling that it may be time to say goodbye.

Related Link: Celebrity Divorce: 'Grey's Anatomy' Star Jesse Williams & Wife Aryn Drake Lee Are Divorcing After 5 Years of Marriage

2. You argue and never seem to really make-up: Healthy debate and arguments are not bad signs in a relationship; in fact, it's good if you're able to disagree with your partner and recognize that conflict is a natural part of any relationship. On the other hand, if you two seem to be having the same fight over and over again that never really gets resolved, you should take a long, hard look at how you're functioning as a couple. If arguments always end with slammed doors and the silent treatment instead of a long talk and reconciliation, that's not a good sign. It may be time to consider that the best thing for both of you is to say goodbye.

3. You're the only one compromising: Relationships are all about compromise, the push and pull of two human beings trying to work together to create something beautiful. If you feel as if you're always the one who is changing themselves to fit your partner's standards, ask yourself if they're really holding up their end of the bargain when it comes to the relationship. Do you feel like you are in an equitable partnership? Do you both compromise regularly or does one or the other of you always bend to the other one's way? If you feel as though they're never willing to sacrifice what they want for the good of the relationship, this might be a sign that the relationship has run its course.
