

Celebrity Exes: Scarlett Johansson Attends Event with Romain Dauriac Amid Divorce

By Noelle Downey

Former celebrity couple Scarlett Johansson and Romain Dauriac were spotted out together on April 5th, less than a month after Johansson had officially filed for divorce from Dauriac. While there's no doubt this must be a troublesome time for both of them, according to UsMagazine.com, these celebrity exes seem at peace with their decision to separate, and remained amicable throughout the night as they sipped on cocktails and admired the art at 53W53 Gallery in NYC. Despite Dauriac's lawyer recently stating that there would be a custody battle in this celebrity divorce over the couple's now two year old daughter, Rose, both Johansson and Dauriac seem determined to remain civil, even posing for photographs together throughout the night despite their conspicuously bare ring fingers.

It seems these celebrity exes are absolutely amicable! What are some ways to keep the drama out of your divorce?

Cupid's Advice:

In a celebrity break-up, just like any other, there's bound to be some conflict and crushed feelings. But just like these sensible stars, there's no need to bring that angst into the public eye. Here are Cupid's top three tips for keeping your divorce cordial and calm:

1. Define your boundaries: In an early statement to the press about her impending divorce, Johansson clarified, "I would only like to say that I will never, ever be commenting on the dissolution of my marriage. Out of respect for my desires as a parent and out of respect for all working moms, it is with kindness that I ask other parties involved... to do the same." Just like this celebrity parent, be careful who you choose to divulge the dirty details of your divorce to. While confiding in close friends and confidants is healthy, don't be afraid to tell someone when they're prying into your personal business – and let them know, firmly and kindly, that your divorce is between you, your family and your lawyers.

2. Form a friendly truce with your ex: Just like Johansson and former flame Dauriac, it's possible to be able to associate casually with your ex even when tensions are high. By forming a working friendship, these celebrity co-parents are presenting a united front to the world despite their recent separation, which will help them in future negotiations, especially over their daughter, Rose. Try doing the same with your ex to ease the stress of separation.

3. Focus on what really matters: Whether that's your child's happiness, your own personal mental and physical health or making sure that you and your ex can remain on friendly terms even after the divorce is finalized, prioritize what really matters, and try not to get caught up in petty squabbles over things that don't. While it can be tempting to lash out at your ex for hurting you, remember that in the end, focusing on the most important things will help you heal faster and adjust more quickly to this life change.

Dauriac Split After Two Years of Marriage

It's unfortunate that this celebrity break-up has become a reality. What are some things you can do in your relationship before resorting to divorce?

Cupid's Advice:

With news of this celebrity break-up, another famous couple is calling it quits, but before you and your partner resort to divorce, know that there are ways to determine whether or not your relationship is worth saving. Check out our love advice below:

1. Talk to a therapist: Sometimes, it's nice to have a neutral third-party listening when you're discussing your biggest problems. They may be able to help you see a situation in a new light, encouraging you to give your partner another chance.

2. Date your partner again: It's common for longtime couples to get caught up in the hustle and bustle of everyday life and forget what brought them together in the first place. How do you know your partner is ready to be a parent?

Cupid's Advice:

Being a parent is difficult. Being a co-parent can be even more difficult if your partner is not ready to be the other half of a child's life. One parent absolutely can do it all, but it is not ideal to knowingly go into a pregnancy that way. Having someone to help with the work and share in the joys is to have something beautiful, so how do you know you can count on your boo? Cupid has some insight:

1. You are priority: When you know without a doubt that you are your stud's number one priority in life, then you can bet he's ready. When someone can clearly demonstrate they know how to prioritize and then they make the choice to prioritize you, it means the transition from supportive partner to try-hard parent won't be a hard one.

2. He actually likes kids: Before your love has a child of his own, make sure he will actually take an interest in said child. He will love whatever is his, but being a parent is more than that. It's about staying up late, watching kid shows on an endless loop, getting on the ground to play with them on their levels, going to their games, recitals, and science fairs happily. So, check him out with your nieces and nephews, with your little cousins, or with your friend's kids to see if he really is interested in a life with a future that has kiddos in it.

3. You've heard it aloud: Wanting to father a child is kind of a huge deal. Neither men nor women hold on to that, especially if they're in a committed, adult relationship. Talk to your man! Ask him what he wants or if he has ever even thought about it. Having an honest conversation together will shed the light that both of you will need before you embark on miracle making.

Scarlett Johansson Is Expecting!

By April Littleton

According to People, Scarlett Johansson is expecting her first child with fiancé Romain Dauriac. Six months ago, the Avengers actress announced her engagement. “I’m very happy. He’s my buddy,” Johansson said about the French journalist.

How do you prepare for your first child?

Cupid’s Advice:

Many couples don’t know where to start when they find out they’re pregnant for the first time. How do you know what size clothes to buy? Do you buy baby formula now or later? Take a deep breath and remain calm. Cupid has some tips:

1. Get educated: One of the best things you can do for yourself and your future newborn is learn everything there is to learn about babies and parenthood. Buy pregnancy books, take parenting classes with your partner and ask for tips and advice from loved ones who’ve already been through the situations you are about to experience.

2. Take care of yourself: Stay away from foods that aren't recommended to eat while pregnant. This means no sushi and absolutely no drinking. Eat foods that will nourish you and your growing baby. Keep yourself in shape and in good health. Exercise regularly, but don't overexert yourself.

3. Get the house together: You and your significant other need to start getting your home together for when the baby arrives. Think of ideas on how you want his/her room to be. Do you have a color scheme picked out? Is the house even safe enough for a child to live in? Your lifestyle will change, and most of the money you spend on materialistic objects will need to be put toward a crib, diapers, toys and baby clothing.

Scarlett Johansson Is Engaged to Romain Dauriac

By Petra Halbur

The rumors are true: Scarlett Johansson and Romain Dauriac are going to get married. Johansson's rep told UsMagazine.com, "I can confirm that Scarlett and Romain are engaged. They haven't chosen a date for the wedding." This will be Johansson's second marriage. She was married to Green Lantern star, Ryan Reynolds, from 2008 to 2010.

What are some factors to consider before you get remarried?
Cupid's Advice:

The decision to get married should not be made lightly ... especially when you're getting married for the second time. Cupid is here with some things to consider before getting remarried.

1. Is this one different? Consider your ex and the factors that led to the collapse of your first marriage. Is your new soon-to-be spouse different? If not, think good and hard about this new relationship.

2. Are you in a better place? Where were you emotionally, professionally and psychologically during your first marriage?

Perhaps you weren't mature enough or perhaps you were unhappy with your career. Whatever the case was, are you better now?

3. Is marriage for you? Marriage is not for everyone and there's no shame in that. It may be that sharing your life with one person is simply not for you. There's nothing with that but you need to ask yourself that question before you tie the knot again.

Scarlett Johansson Debuts New French Boyfriend Romain Dauriac

By Jennifer Ross

Scarlett Johansson has got a new man. Just one month after splitting from advertising exec Nate Naylor, Johansson has been spotted out with French journalist Romain Dauriac. Johansson and her new beau were out on Sunday Nov. 18 in New York City for the premiere of her latest film, the making of Alfred Hitchcock's Psycho. According to Pure People, the love birds were introduced to each other by a mutual friend and tattoo artist Fuzi Uvtpk. Since then, reports claim that the couple has also frequented several bars and clubs in both France and New York within the past several weeks.

What are some ways to introduce your new partner to family and friends?

Cupid's Advice:

When you begin a love relationship, you naturally want to involve him/her in every part of your life. This will include introductions to your colleagues, friends and family. Be warned that this can be a tricky when dealing with judgmental people who care about you. In order for things to work out well, here are three ways to bring your important people together:

1. Private brunch/dinner: Before your new partner is thrown to the family pack, smooth things over with a pre-introduction brunch/dinner for you two and your parents. It will be difficult enough for your mate to answer questions from your parents in front of the family. A private brunch/dinner for four will allow your parents to get to know him/her without the scrutiny of a family audience.

2. Sports gathering: A great time for your partner to meet your friends is when you all get together for a sports event. This will be a way for him/her to mingle with everyone without being the center of attention. Also, bonding moments can happen when your sport team is winning.

3. Vacation trip: If you feel you two are ready, consider inviting your partner to a family or friend vacation trip. This will allow everyone to be in a neutral and stress-free environment with plenty of days to get to know him/her. Just remember to go easy on the alcoholic beverages during the trip.
