By Ivana Jarmon

Michael Sheen recently opened up about his relationship with celebrity ex Sarah Silverman. In celebrity news, Sheen says international politics played a huge role in his celebrity break-up with Silverman. "After the Brexit vote, and the election where Trump becomes president, we both felt in different ways we wanted to get more involved," Sheen told The Daily Telegraph. "That led to her doing her show I Love You, America, and it led to me wanting to address the issues that I thought led some people to vote the way they did about Brexit, in the area I come from and others like it." While the celebrity exes bonded over politics and social justice, they both knew that being together was not right for them at the time. The exes dated for nearly four years before calling it quits in December 2017, UsMagazine.com reports.

In this celebrity break-up news, Michael Sheen finally explains what led to his split from Sarah Silverman. What are some ways politics can affect your relationship?

Cupid's Advice:

Some couples embrace political differences, some don't care, and others consider having similar views non-negotiable. Cupid has some ways politics can affect your relationship:

1. Political differences: Not seeing eye to eye can at times lead to an opportunity of learning and growth. Having different opinions can enrich and sometimes positively affect a relationship. But sometimes political viewpoints can easily become personal and sensitive matters. Couples have been torn apart by different political viewpoints.

2. Believing your political view is the only correct perspective: A quick way to destroy a relationship when it comes to politics is to believe your way is the only way. Be open to your partner's perspective, because you don't have to like it, but you must agree to disagree. This goes with anything in life; you have to compromise.

3. Inability to respect someone different view: In a relationship, you share many differences. By not respecting your partner's view, you're ignoring how they feel, which is very disrespectful. To make a relationship work, you must respect your partner's views even if you don't like them.

'The Bachelorette' Fans Michael Sheen and Sarah Silverman Think the Wrong Man Won

By Ryan Bonner

Michael Sheen, star of Showtime's Masters of Sex recently told UsMagazine.com that he and his celebrity love, Sarah Silverman, are huge Bachelorette fans, and they were not expecting the most recent finale to go as it did. Unfortunately for them, their favorite contestants did not make it to the final rose ceremony.

These Bachelorette fans are speaking out! What do you do if a friend is with someone you don't think he/she should be with?

Cupid's Advice:

Michael Sheen and Sarah Silverman aren't the biggest fans of this year's Bachelorette final rose ceremony. Having a friend who doesn't accept your significant other can be hard. If you're in this situation, Cupid has advice for you:

1. Have them get to know each other: You can't convince your friend that who you're dating is the right person for you if they don't get to know one another. Set up a day for the three of you to get together and be able to have them connect.

2. Listen to their concerns: If your friend sees something that may not be in your best interests, hear them out. Catch the problem early on in the relationship before it becomes more serious.
