1. You're doing it for the right reasons: If you are completely over your ex, it may be a time to start a new relationship. some steps you can take to get over your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

No matter how amicable the situation may have been, breaking up with your partner and beginning the process of getting over them can be challenging. If you are looking for some steps to take to get over your ex, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Remove them from your feed: It's hard to get over someone if you are constantly aware of what they're doing or who they're with. By limiting how much of the other person you see on social media, you will stop yourself from seeing anything you are not ready for. Whether it is muting, unfollowing, or blocking, there are many different options to limit your exposure to your ex.

2. Take down your posts: While removing them from your feed is helpful, so is taking down whatever posts you have of the relationship on your account. It may not be necessary to completely delete these posts, but archiving them or setting them as private is a good way to show you're moving on. Once you start conveying to other people that you are past the relationship, you will begin to believe it yourself.

3. Limit other forms of communication: Depending on the situation, it may not be possible to cut off all communication right away. In celebrity couple news, Sofia Richie may be moving on after her split from Scott Disick with Jaden Smith. How do you know you're ready to move on after a break-up?

Cupid's Advice:

Moving on after a break-up can be one of the hardest things to do. There are a few ways to tell if you're ready to start thinking about moving on, so if you're thinking of trying to start dating again, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Make sure you're over your ex first: The last thing you want to do is start up a new relationship when you're still not healed from your old one yet. This will make it harder to fully invest in someone new and might cause problems if you're still hung up on your ex. Before rushing into a rebound, focus on taking care of yourself and making sure you've had time to heal before starting something new.

2. Take it slow: If you think you're ready to start dating again, but you're still feeling hesitant, try to take it slow. It's okay to try and put yourself back out into the dating game, but consider moving your next relationship slowly, so you're able to stop at any time.

In celebrity news, Scott and Sofia are definitely on the outs right now. What are some ways to keep your partner from being jealous of your ex?

Cupid's Advice:

It's normal to sometimes feel jealous of your partner's ex, even in the happiest relationships. But obsessing over that jealousy can cause serious harm. If you need help getting your partner past their jealousy, Cupid has some advice for you.

1. Reassure them: Remind your partner that you and your ex broke up for a reason. Remind them that you chose to be with them, not your ex. It's easy to get lost in overthinking, so reassure your partner of your feelings. Ask if there's more you can be doing to help them feel comfortable.

Celebrity News: Scott Disick Seen Dining With Kourtney Kardashian Amid Sofia Richie Split

By Ellie Rice

In the latest celebrity news, Scott Disick was spotted dining out with ex-Kourtney Kardashian and their kids. The sighting has fans on high alert as Disick and longtime girlfriend Sofia Richie's recent split was said to be because of his former flame. According to UsMagazine.com, Disick's focus was always on Kardashian and their kids rather than Richie. We hope all these celebrity exes can get along!

In celebrity couple news, Scott Disick was seen out with ex-Kourtney Kardashian amid his split from Sofia Richie. How do you know if you're still hung up on an ex?

Cupid's Advice:

Missing an ex is a common and sometimes inevitable occurrence. If you're wondering if you may fall into that category, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. You're constantly thinking about them: If the one thing that seems to always be on your mind is your ex, then chances are you're not over them. Think about the good and bad within the relationship and why it ended. If you went your separate ways for reasons that were fixable or poorly timed, then maybe reconciliation is in your future. For those whose relationship ended for valid and critical reasons, then you need to remember why the split took place. Nostalgia plays a selective highlight reel through our memory and focuses on the highest of highs, don't let this cloud your judgment.

2. You stalk their socials: Are you glued to your phone and constantly checking in on your ex's profiles? If that sounds like you, then you're probably not over them. This definitely isn't a healthy step in the moving-on process or any for that matter! Once you've split, unfriend and unfollow your partner. Cutting off this visibility is crucial for you to embark on the next stage of your life. Constantly checking in or stalking their pages isn't going to do you any good and may lead to your feelings getting hurt all over again.

3. You're still reaching out: Closure is a crucial part of the breakup process. It's important that the two of you have an open and honest discussion about why things ended so you're both walking away without any lingering questions. Once this has happened, it's important that you move forward with your life and work towards finding your own happiness. Stop trying to rehash the past or continue to ask your ex what went wrong. Accept that it wasn't the right path and focus on yourself.

Cupid's Advice:

Supporting a loved one recovering from addiction can be difficult and emotional. If you're looking for a little guidance, Cupid has some advice for you:

1. Take it slow: The recovery process is a long and continuous road for your partner and your relationship. Don't expect everything to change overnight, as your significant other is on their own healing journey. As they find their inner strength, so will your relationship. Be supportive and communicative with them by creating an open and honest environment at home. Allow them to transparently convey their emotions and feelings towards you, so you both can understand where your relationship is at. If you have an ex-partner going through recovery who is still a part of your life, be supportive of them as well. Check-in with them and spend time together participating in fun and lighthearted activities.

2. Build a support network: Letting your partner know that you support them and are with them every step of the way is so important. They need to feel love and care on the homefront. Remove any triggers from your home environment that you think could get in the way of their recovery process. Take them to their meetings or try engaging in couples therapy to continue rebuilding your relationship. Have family and loved ones provide support as well to show your partner how important they are.

3. Get adventurous: Come up with fun and exciting activities to go out and experience with your partner! Cupid's Advice:

With all the complicated feelings that even thinking about your ex brings, having them bring their next S.O. into the family is tricky to say the least. Jenner is supporting Disick and Richie's relationship like a mature and respectful ally. Here are relationship tips to root for your ex's new love:

1. Keep your distance: You see your ex repeating similar patterns, you don't think their new lover is treating them right, etc. It's so tempting to pinch the lovebirds on the shoulder and straighten them out. Don't do it. When you get the temptation to meddle, take a deep breath and walk away. By commenting on their current situation, you are adding your baggage with ex-bae to their new love. It's better to keep your distance here.

2. Accept their new partner: Possibly the biggest thing you can do to support their relationship is accepting their new partner. It doesn't have to be as a close confidant, though friendship is a great way to start this process. Welcome the partner into your family space and accept them as a potential life long member.

1. Remember, your partner is with YOU: Your partner and their ex split up for a reason. Even if they are on friendly terms, you have to realize they didn't work for a reason. Your partner would not be in a relationship with you if what you have between you both isn't working.
